33 Candidates Will Contest For Varied Municipal Offices

East Liverpool is expected to cast about 3,800 votes Tuesday as it goes to the polls to nominate party candidates for municipal offices and decide the fate of two school levy renewtls.

Miss Rebecca Resnick, director of the County Election Board's office, said the anticipated turnout would be less than 300 above the 3,570 votes cast at the last comparable primary in 1967.

THE 11-MILL and 1-mill levy renewals are expected to help bolster the turnout, but the general apathy toward the party voting will help offst the interest in the school issues, she said.

Of the 3,570 votes cast in the 1967 primaries, 1,772 were marked by Republicans and 1,790 by Democrats. In the 1968 primaries, when state and county offices were at stake, East Liverpool cast only 3,169 ballots. The count showed 1,468 Republicans and 1,701 Democrats.

The 43-precinct East Liverpool School District, which includes the 34 city polling places and nine in adjoining Liverpool and St. Clair Townships, is expected to cast about 4,500 votes Tuesday. The school district showed a turnout of 4,738 in September 1968 during a special election on the same two issues. The 34 city precincts cast 3,664 votes in the same special election.

East Liverpool has 7,815 voters registered for the primaries. A total vote of 3,800 would represent a 49 per cent turnout—unusually high for a primary.

Thirty - three candidates are seeking their parties' nominations for nine municipal offices. Voters will choose candidates for treasurer, Council president, three councilmen-at-large and four ward representatives.

The posts of three other officials are not at stake because they are in four-year terms. They are Mayor George E. Willshaw and Auditor Lawrence J. Zollinger, both Republicans, and Solicitor J. Michael Kapp, Democrat.

The slates chosen by the Republicans and Democrats Tuesday will run against each other in the general election in November. Democrats have 19 candidates while 14 Republicans are seeking nominations.

Each party has a wide-open race for the three council-at-large nominations, which means those races will be in the spotlight. Republicans have a six-way race and Democrats will settle a five-man contest.

Man Grabbed In East End After Robbery And Chase

A 38-year-old Ohio man is being held at City Jail on suspicion of armed robbery after his apprehension Friday night following a chase in East End.

He was identified by police as Harold Bevell Raver of Baltimore in Fairfield County.

Officers said Raver took some $400 and four wigs from the Wells Beauty Shop on Market St. about 9 p.m., fled to the area of the Milliron Co. on E. 2nd St. and at gunpoint compelled John K. Brown of Wellsville RD 1 to drive him in his pickup truck to East End.

Brown was forced out of his truck near Mulberry St., and Raver then continued toward the Ohio-Pennsylvania state line. For some reason, however, police said he stopped the truck near Columbian Park and continued into the woods on foot.

Charles E. (Bill) Tice, acting police chief, said approximately 10 officers were in the area at the time, including men from the local department, the sheriff's office at Lisbon and St. Clair Township.

As they combed the wooded area in an effort to flush out the suspect, a call was received that he was in the Little England area.

Tice, on foot in the area, dispatched a cruiser to Little England, where Raver was picked up by Patrolman Charles Coen and taken to the station.

Mrs. Geneva Long of Toronto, owner of the shop, said she was working late because she had a patron. The man (holding the gun) put the wigs under his

Talks Add To Speculation Of U.S. Viet Withdrawals

SAIGON (AP) — The U.S. Command's top planner for troop withdrawals met Friday night with South Vietnamese President Nguyen Van Thieu, reviving speculation about American troop withdrawals.

The U.S. Mission reported Maj. Gen. Richard F. Shaefer, deputy to American commanding Gen. Creighton W. Abrams, met with Thieu at the presidential palace for 1½ hours. Also present was U.S. Ambassador Ellsworth S. Bunker.

Sources described it as a regular consultation meeting to discuss the results of the latest session of the Paris peace conference and map strategy for next week's session.

"There are a lot of propositions going on in Paris," said one source, "like developing positions and the problems and mechanics involved in mutual troop withdrawals, the matter of American prisoners of war and our position on the demilitarized zone."

American military sources said today any cutback in the 541,500 U.S. troops stationed in Vietnam hinges on three conditions.

They are:

—Some breakthrough at the Paris peace talks.

—A greatly reduced infiltration of North Vietnamese troops into the South.

—Improvement of South Vietnam's armed forces.

"Any change in American troop strength would require one or all three of these conditions," said one senior officer.

The intensity of the Viet Cong's spring offensive, now in its 10th week, has dropped off sharply. For the second night since Feb. 23, the U.S. Command reported no significant rocket or mortar attacks on allied towns and bases.

"Things are slow, unbelievably slow," said a spokesman.

But the U.S. Command does not see this as a sign of voluntary de-escalation. Spokesman said the loss of 38,000 troops, 23,000 weapons, more than 100,000 rockets and mortar shells and five million pounds of rice left the North Vietnamese and Viet Cong "no other alternative but a decrease in offensive activity."

While several main force enemy regiments have pulled back to the Cambodian border area, the belief is that they are merely resupplying, resting and receiving replacements. Captured documents talk of a pending summer-autumn offensive.

U.S. sources also said they saw no sign of a decrease in North Veitnamese infiltration into South Vietnam. They said it has remained fairly constant at a rate of 7,000 to 10,000 troops a month.

When South Vietnam's 1.6 million armed forces might be improved enough to allow the beginning of U.S. troop withdrawals is still open to question. July 1 has been mentioned as a target date, but one source said: "There is a running evaluation of the South Vietnamese forces and that takes time."

Nixon Supported In War On 'Smut'

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Nixon's call for a "citizens' crusade against the obscene" and new laws to battle smut in the mails has some ready supporters in Congress where two members already have compiled graphic evidence of the problem.

Reps. Richard H. Ichord, D-Mo., and Glen Cunningham, R-Neb., have assembled files which demonstrate what the President was talking about Friday when he proposed steps to block mail which is "unsolicited, unwanted and deeply offensive to those who receive it."

The congressmen have an array of pornographic literature forwarded to them by irate constituents who want such material kept out of the mails and out of the hands of the young.

"I've been around and I'm not easily shocked, but this stuff is terrible," Ichord said of the examples he received.

Nixon said Friday his administration will send three proposals to Congress shortly which would:

Serve Notice On Nixon

Anti-Poverty Voice Asked By Republican Governors

LEXINGTON, Ky. (AP) — Republican governors have served notice on the Nixon administration they want control of antipoverty programs in their states.

In the closing business sessions of their spring conference Friday, the GOP state executives also demanded that they be consulted in advance about any policy decisions the administration may make with big city mayors in programs to attack urban programs.

Most of the governors will get an opportunity to chat with Presient Nixon today during the President's brief visit to Churchill Downs in Louisville to watch the running of the Kentucky Derby.

At their semiannual meeting, the governors sidestepped the controversial issues of Nixon's decision to deploy the Safeguard missile defense system and campus rioting. But they took the opportunity to tell Washington they are not satisfied with the way the new administration is structuring some of its programs.

In a unanimously adopted resolution, the governors urged that in reorganizing the war on poverty that Nixon consider channeling all its programs through executive agencies set up by governors in all of the states. They called for abolition of regional offices of the Office of Economic Opportunity (OEO) which have bypassed the governors in the past.

A resolution authorized by Gov. Richard B. Ogilvie of Illinois illuminated the friction between governors and mayors over the thrust of city programs. It demanded "notifica-

'Pull Troops,' Scott Says In Changeover

WASHINGTON (AP) — Sen. Hugh Scott, the Republican whip, has changed his stated position on the Vietnam war and urged President Nixon to unilaterally withdraw 25,000 to 50,000 U.S. troops.

Scott said a beginning of a U.S. withdrawal from Vietnam would "prod the North Vietnamese out of the sea of propaganda and onto the high ground of real bargaining sessions."

Such comments were criticized recently by President Nixon as harmful to the U.S. peace negotiators in Paris.

"I urge the withdrawal of a substantial number of American troops from Vietnam," Scott told a university alumni group in Pittsburgh, Pa., Friday night.

"I hope that the White House will announce such a move in the near future," Scott added.

"By a substantial number I don't mean half," Scott said, departing from his text. "I mean 25,000 to 50,000 should be replaced by trained South Vietnamese forces."

Explaining the reason for his new position, Scott said: "A wise man changes his mind often but a fool never."

Next Week Could Hold Key To 'Oust Wilson' Demand

LONDON (AP) — British Cabinet stalwarts are supporting Prime Minister Harold Wilson but he faces a serious challenge to his leadership of the Labor party and the House of Commons.

Parliamentary sources said 60 to 70 of the 348 Labor members in Commons support a campaign to replace Wilson. They said the next week could prove crucial.

Three Cabinet ministers in public speeches Friday night appealed for an end to the "wave of near-hysteria" surrounding the "Wilson must go" campaign and called for sober judgment.

Backers of the drive said these loyalists were admitting deep concern over the "Oust Wilson" movement.

But Wilson went to Chequers, his official country home, for the weekend and was reported to be unconcerned.

The immediate issue that brought the backbench rebellion to a climax was Wilson's determination to press ahead for reform in labor-management relations, including strike control

Mazeppa owns a laundry from which $20 in quarters was taken in January. He told the judge that when he has to take time out from business to come to court it cost him money.

The judge called the situation inexcusable and said he would personally find out why policemen failed to show up the seventh time-thereby making it necessary to schedule as eighth appearance for Mazeppa.

'March' Set For Strikers By Abernathy

CHARLESTON, S.C. (AP) — The Rev. Ralph David Abernathy, released after a week in jail, says he will lead a march Sunday in behalf of striking Negro hospital workers and that the Poor People's Campaign "may just move to Charleston."

Abernathy was released Friday night after $500 bond was posted by a Charleston supporter.

His arrest in an April 25 demonstration for violating a court order limiting pickets at two hospitals was followed by a call-up of National Guardsmen and, two nights ago, by the start of a 9 p.m. to 5 a.m. curfew.

Despite the curfew, the city was plagued again Friday night by sporadic window-breaking, rock-throwing, fire bomb attempts and other vandalism. The curfew was extended through tonight at request of county officials.

WASHINGTON (AP) — Sen. Hugh Scott, the Republican whip, has changed his stated position on the Vietnam war and urged President Nixon to unilaterally withdraw 25,000 to 50,000 U.S. troops.

Scott said a beginning of a U.S. withdrawal from Vietnam would "prod the North Vietnamese out of the sea of propaganda and onto the high ground of real bargaining sessions."

Such comments were criticized recently by President Nixon as harmful to the U.S. peace negotiators in Paris.

"I urge the withdrawal of a substantial number of American troops from Vietnam," Scott told a university alumni group in Pittsburgh, Pa., Friday night.

"I hope that the White House will announce such a move in the near future," Scott added.

"By a substantial number I don't mean half," Scott said, departing from his text. "I mean 25,000 to 50,000 should be replaced by trained South Vietnamese forces."

Explaining the reason for his new position, Scott said: "A wise man changes his mind often but a fool never."

Taxpayers Ponder Fund Finds

Columbus Credibility Gap

By JOHN R. THOMAS
Review Staff Correspondent

COLUMBUS, Ohio — Confidence in officeholders is not enhanced by their constant poor mouthing when events later show that money was in the coffers all the time for programs the public was told could be financed only by increased taxes.

But actions of the Rhodes administration and the Ohio General Assembly would seem to indicate they believe there is no limit to their credibility when it comes to asking for more money.

THIS, DESPITE the fact that the administration talked of little else except new and increased taxes for the first three months of the year.

The administration backed off the tax proposals in mid-April, asking that its request for taxes be deferred until at least 1970. Then, as if quite by magic, the Republican leadership in the House of Representatives said it had found around $85 million that the administration hadn't counted on for increased aid to technical education.

Additionally, said House Speaker Charles F. Kurfess, R-Perrysburg, the state could raise $30 million to $35 million by ordering the State Department of Liquor Control to increase the markup to the maximum allowed—35 per cent.

THE RESULT was, of course, that there would be no need for additional taxes this year — at least on the state, if not the local, level.

It was really no secret there was some money in the governor's continuing executive budget that could be ferreted out of various accounts and diverted to education or other pressing needs.

The Ohio Education Association claimed there was around $198 million that could be found without disturbing any program very much, and a few Democrats and Republicans talked in round figures of $200 million hidden in the $5.8 billion two-year budget.

AS IT TURNED OUT, the money — technically speaking — was not hidden. The austerity program instituted around the first of the year by State Finance Director Howard L. Collier resulted in finding about $30 million in lapsed funds — money which was appropriated to various departments, but not used.

Therefore, the year-end balances would be increased considerably over the amount predicted back in January when the budget was introduced. Additionally, sales and use taxes, revised to anticipate a 6 per cent instead of a 5 per cent growth, should produce $55 million more than anticipated.

At the time it was announced that the new money was going to be available, Kurfess said the governor's educational program would not be covered entirely, and that some cuts would have to be made.

HOWEVER, the proposed expansion of technical and vocational education programs probably will be funded totally by the uncovered new funds.

The $110 million, though it is being thrown around as gospel, is a compromise between the legislature and the administration. Even some of the Republicans on the House Finance Committee couldn't agree on all the figures, and it took some doing by the leadership to get Collier to go along with the $110 million figure.

Kurfess admits it was the legislature — although the two branches did work together on the revised estimates of revenue — that turned up the new money.

BUT FEW REALIZE that the leadership in the House and the administration actually work apart in many instances.

"It wasn't always so," says Kurfess. "But once that budget is sent up (to the legislature) it's our job to find out how accurate the administration's figures are."

In 1967, for example, the final form of Senate Bill 350, which resulted in about a $400 million increase in state spending for education, was a legislative package, and the governor later endorsed it.

What about the $200 million that some still claim is the figure that should be used?

Most of the leadership admit that by looking at the figures another way, it might be possible to come up with that much.

BUT, they point out, that figure would encompass money needed for start of business for the new biennium, including a two-week payroll, and funds needed to pay off obligations incurred in the waning months of the present two-year period.

Of course, there are some advantages in playing the financial juggling act. People, scared by headlines predicting new taxes, breathe a sigh of relief when told there won't be any new taxes.

They tend to overlook the inconsistencies, thankful that somewhere there are people who are looking out for their fiscal interests.

Disturbances Break Out On More U.S. Campuses

By The Associated Press

New outbreaks of campus turmoil have struck in the East and Southwest as some political and academic leaders disagreed on the causes and cures for student unrest.

Black students took over the president's office for five hours at Southern Methodist University in Dallas Friday while two major unitts of New Yory's City University were forced to close by violence.

More than 500 policemen cleared the Queens College campus after 40 Negro students marched through three buildings smashing windows and overturning furniture.

Two top Republicans—Vice President Spiro T. Agnew and House leader Gerald R. Ford—both called for a cliampdown on student disorders in line with "get tough" statements earlier this week by President Nixon and Atty. Gen. John N. Mitchell.

Many delegates to the American Association of University Professors meeting in Minneapolis expressed sharp dissent with the Nixon administration view and a resolution was offered condemning it as a "direct threat to academic freedom."

The Amherst College community told the President that student unrest would not be quelled until the political leadership of the nation addresses itself to the major problems of society—the war, the draft and the needs of the poor.

In a letter to Nixon, Amherst President Calvin H. Plimpton said the students and faculty had taken two days off to debate the issues early this week and were convinced that fundamental changes "can take place without physical duress."

But he said the Massachusetts college community took issue with the view that the turmoil is caused by a small minority of students and that unrest would end without substantial changes.

Agnew, speaking in Honolulu, told a meeting of young executives:

"When administrators and faculties capitulate before storm-trooper tactics they are not only doing a grave disservice to academic freedom but all freedom."

Rep. Ford, speaking to a news conference at the Republican Governors Conference in Lexington, Ky., said: "I think the administrators have got to be firmer and if they're not they ought to be changed."

At SMU, officials said they "have a better university" as a result of the sit-in Friday by 34 members of the Black Leaders for Afro-American and African College Students.

The sit-ins met with President Willis Tate to discuss their demands. Tate revealed later that the school had offered concessions including establishment of a house where black students can gather and appointment of two black students to serve as admissions counselors this summer.

The administration turned down a demand that they recruit 500 Negro students for next semester. There are about 50 Negroes—mostly graduate students—among the 9,500 enrollment at SMU.

In New York City, Queens College President Joseph P. McMurray suspended all classes through Monday at the 25,000-student school after the second successive day of violence Friday.

Before police arrived to clear the campus about 20 Negroes and 100 white students clashed. The Negroes are demanding curriculum changes and student control of a scholarship program for disadvantaged youths.

Pact Okayed By Union And Gas Company

A new, three - year contract has been negotiated by International Union District 50, UMWA, and Local Union 13656 with the Ohio Valley Gas Co. covering 27 members of the union in the East Liverpool area.

The settlement was announced today by H. R. Sneddon, East Liverpool manager for the gas company.

Members of the local ratified the agreement Friday night. The old contract expired Thursday.

Terms included general wage increases during the first year ncreases during the first year ranging from approximately 18 cents to 24 cents an hour in various job classifications. Additional increases are provided in the second and third years of the contract. The settlement also provides for vacation improvement and other benefits.

rial dealing with a sexual subject in a manner unsuitable for young people." A first violation would be punishable by up to five years in prison and a $50,000 fine.

—"Make it a federal crime to use the mails, or other facilities of commerce, for the commercial exploitation of a prurient interest in sex through advertising." The penalty would be up to five years and $50,000 fine for first offense and double that for subsequent convictions.

—"Extend the existing law to enable a citizen to protect his home from any intrusion of sex - oriented advertising—regardless of whether or not a citizen has ever received such mailing." This would fortify a 1967 law enabling any citizen to have his name taken off the mailing list whenever he receives material he regards as "erotically arousing or sexually provocative."

Much of it was aimed at teenagers and children by mailers who obtain lists of young persons through purchase of mailing lists, school directories and use of alluring ads.

The East Liverpool Area chapter of the Red Cross has announced it will sponsor another mother and baby care class session in the fall.

The first course was concluded Wednesday night at the Metsch-Harker Nurses residence at City Hospital.

The classes, which were held weekly in two-hour sessions, began March 27 when members were welcomed by Miss Nell Robinson, hospital administrator, who outlined the services being accomplished by the Red Cross.

Mrs. William J. Horger, Red Cross home nursing instructor, served as director of the class. She was assisted by Miss Donna Smith, a nurse at City Hospital.

Certificates were presented Mrs. Judy Wyke, Mrs. Esther Jones, Mrs. Mary Kav Groom, Mrs. Linda Bailey, Mrs. Janet Hildebrand, Mrs. Elaine Durbin, Mrs. Lynn McIntosh, Mrs. Deloris Robertson, Mrs. Phyllis Pollard, Mrs. Joan Casto, Mrs. Rita Christen, Mrs. Becky Obenour, Mrs. Sondra Mumaw, Mrs. Carrie McMahon and Mrs. Wanda Wyse.

Senior student nurses assisting with the class and social hour which followed each session were Jane Miles, Sherry Johnston, Louise Kline, Sandy Collins, Linda Johnston, Cheryl Anderson, Nancy Lessel, Susan Hargraves and Jodale Kilbreath.

Council's Action Planned Monday For 4 Proposals

City Council is scheduled to act on four ordinances and resolutions at its first May meeting Monday night at 8.

An ordinance will be presented to transfer $2,000 to the income tax department to finance a citywide summer survey as a way of updating the department's records on potential taxpayers. The house - to - house canvasses have been periodically in the past to list residents, business houses and other potential taxpayers.

A resolution will be presented authorizing the Board of Public Utilities, which administers the water department, to advertise for bids and sign a new 10-year contract for electrical power for its operations. Although the Ohio Power Co. is the only potential bidder, state law requires the board to call for sealed offers.

Council also will consider resolutions authorizing the administration to advertise for bids on repair of the City Jail and on a year's supply of gasoline, oil, road salt and other materials for the fire, police, street and incinerator departments.

and county officials and Ohio Highway Department representatives Friday at the highway department's Division 11 office in New Philadelphia.

The city will seek to have the state government allocate the money from part of the proceeds of a bond issue approved by Ohio voters at the November 1968 general election. It will ask $256,000 for the Maine Blvd. project, $160,000 for Shadyside Ave. improvement, $72,000 for the storm sewer project on Pennsylvania Ave. and $400,000 as the local share of the Freeway's eastward extension.

The area delegation was comprised of the mayor, Safety-Service Director Robert E. Vodrey, Richard Sanford, Liverpool Township trustee; State Rep. Clarence Wetzel, County Engineer Bert Dawson Jr. and his assistant, Byron Cox. They met with Levi (Jack) Kimble, head of the division 11 office.

Kimble told the group he does not believe the highway department will be connected with the distribution of funds, but said he would lend any possible support to the city's requests. Wetzel said he will urge that any funds in excess of the amounts already allocated be earmarked for the East Liverpool work.

Wetzel requested that East Liverpool's Council enact a resolution as soon as possible setting forth its requirements and send copies to P. E. Masheter, highway director, Kimble, and himself. He also proposed that Liverpool Township trustees and county commissioners adopt similar resolutions.

State Sen. Douglas Applegate of Steubenville phoned the mayor while the meeting was in progress and said he was "in full accord" with the city's requests. Boyd, Dawson and Sanford also indicated their support.

Kimble told the delegation resolutions already have been filed with his office from Salem, Columbiana and Leetonia groups endorsing a proposal to build a new state highway from the Ohio River - Lake Erie Freeway east of Leetonia to State Route 45 southeast of Leetonia.

Wilson

laws. These measures are detested by the trade unions that form the backbone of the Labor party's political support.

It was the latest in a series of grievances that alienated Wilson from important factions in his party. Many Labor MPs fearful of losing their seats cite the consistently dismal ratings the party receives in public opinon polls.

These dissidents argue that Labor's best chance is to ditch Wilson, blame past troubles on him and prepare for the next national election in 1971 by choosing a new leader now.

Britain's parliamentary system allows this, and the opposition Conservatives used such a technique a decade ago.

But a prime minister who refuses to quit under parliamentary pressure holds a trump card. He can dissolve parliament and force new elections. Should Wilson do this now, polls indicate some 200 Labor MPs would be almost certain to lose their seats.

'Dashing' Air Race Awaited

LONDON (AP) — About 400 contestants take off Sunday in a zany air race that poses more problems on the ground than up above.

The idea is to get from the top of the Post Office Tower in London to the Empire State Building in New York—or the other way around—as fast as possible.

To beat congested downtown traffic in the two capitals, the fliers will resort to helicopters, speedboats and even a rickshaw.

London's Daily Mail, sponsor of the race, has offered two prizes of $12,000 each for the shortest time each way. Other firms have added special categories with additional prizes totaling some $144,000.

The 21 categories range from supersonic jets entered by the Royal Navy to 80-mile-an-hour light aircraft. There is even a slot for ordinary airline passengers who let others do their flying for them.

Angus McPherson, the Daily Mail air correspondent, called the race "the most fantastic aviation event of the century."

Not all contestants will fly off at once. They have until next Sunday. The first to take off will be Anne Alcock, an 18-year-old niece of one of the pioneers of the first non-stop transatlantic flight.

She will descend from the top of the Post Office Tower in an elevator going 600 feet a minute. After that it's up to her how to get to the airport.

The race marks the 50th anniversary of the first non-stop transatlantic flight by Sr. John Alcock and Lt. Arthur Whitten Brown in 1919. They completed the 1,880-mile flight from St. John's, Nfld., to Clifden, Ireland, in 5 hours 57 minutes, flying a Vickers Vimy.

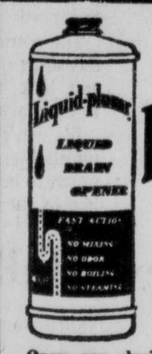

Britain's navy hopes to set a New York-London speed record in the race.

The navy has entered three Phantom supersonic jets built by McDonnell in the United States. They have extra-power Rolls Royce engines giving speeds around 1,400 miles an hour.

The Phantoms are 2-1 favorites with British bookmakers.

Kurfess admits it was the legislature — although the two branches did work together on the revised estimates of revenue — that turned up the new money.

BUT FEW REALIZE that the leadership in the House and the administration actually work apart in many instances.

"It wasn't always so," says Kurfess. "But once that budget is sent up (to the legislature) it's our job to find out how accurate the administration's figures are."

In 1967, for example, the final form of Senate Bill 350, which resulted in about a $400 million increase in state spending for education, was a legislative package, and the governor later endorsed it.

What about the $200 million that some still claim is the figure that should be used?

Most of the leadership admit that by looking at the figures another way, it might be possible to come up with that much.

BUT, they point out, that figure would encompass money needed for start of business for the new biennium, including a two-week payroll, and funds needed to pay off obligations incurred in the waning months of the present two-year period.

Of course, there are some advantages in playing the financial juggling act. People, scared by headlines predicting new taxes, breathe a sigh of relief when told there won't be any new taxes.

They tend to overlook the inconsistencies, thankful that somewhere there are people who are looking out for their fiscal interests.

Disturbances Break Out On More U.S. Campuses

By The Associated Press

New outbreaks of campus turmoil have struck in the East and Southwest as some political and academic leaders disagreed on the causes and cures for student unrest.

Black students took over the president's office for five hours at Southern Methodist University in Dallas Friday while two major unitts of New Yory's City University were forced to close by violence.

More than 500 policemen cleared the Queens College campus after 40 Negro students marched through three buildings smashing windows and overturning furniture.

Two top Republicans—Vice President Spiro T. Agnew and House leader Gerald R. Ford—both called for a cliampdown on student disorders in line with "get tough" statements earlier this week by President Nixon and Atty. Gen. John N. Mitchell.

Many delegates to the American Association of University Professors meeting in Minneapolis expressed sharp dissent with the Nixon administration view and a resolution was offered condemning it as a "direct threat to academic freedom."

The Amherst College community told the President that student unrest would not be quelled until the political leadership of the nation addresses itself to the major problems of society—the war, the draft and the needs of the poor.

In a letter to Nixon, Amherst President Calvin H. Plimpton said the students and faculty had taken two days off to debate the issues early this week and were convinced that fundamental changes "can take place without physical duress."

But he said the Massachusetts college community took issue with the view that the turmoil is caused by a small minority of students and that unrest would end without substantial changes.

Agnew, speaking in Honolulu, told a meeting of young executives:

"When administrators and faculties capitulate before storm-trooper tactics they are not only doing a grave disservice to academic freedom but all freedom."

Rep. Ford, speaking to a news conference at the Republican Governors Conference in Lexington, Ky., said: "I think the administrators have got to be firmer and if they're not they ought to be changed."

At SMU, officials said they "have a better university" as a result of the sit-in Friday by 34 members of the Black Leaders for Afro-American and African College Students.

The sit-ins met with President Willis Tate to discuss their demands. Tate revealed later that the school had offered concessions including establishment of a house where black students can gather and appointment of two black students to serve as admissions counselors this summer.

The administration turned down a demand that they recruit 500 Negro students for next semester. There are about 50 Negroes—mostly graduate students—among the 9,500 enrollment at SMU.

In New York City, Queens College President Joseph P. McMurray suspended all classes through Monday at the 25,000-student school after the second successive day of violence Friday.

Before police arrived to clear the campus about 20 Negroes and 100 white students clashed. The Negroes are demanding curriculum changes and student control of a scholarship program for disadvantaged youths.

Pact Okayed By Union And Gas Company

A new, three - year contract has been negotiated by International Union District 50, UMWA, and Local Union 13656 with the Ohio Valley Gas Co. covering 27 members of the union in the East Liverpool area.

The settlement was announced today by H. R. Sneddon, East Liverpool manager for the gas company.

Members of the local ratified the agreement Friday night. The old contract expired Thursday.

Terms included general wage increases during the first year ncreases during the first year ranging from approximately 18 cents to 24 cents an hour in various job classifications. Additional increases are provided in the second and third years of the contract. The settlement also provides for vacation improvement and other benefits.

—"Make it a federal crime to use the mails, or other facilities of commerce, for the commercial exploitation of a prurient interest in sex through advertising." The penalty would be up to five years and $50,000 fine for first offense and double that for subsequent convictions.

—"Extend the existing law to enable a citizen to protect his home from any intrusion of sex - oriented advertising—regardless of whether or not a citizen has ever received such mailing." This would fortify a 1967 law enabling any citizen to have his name taken off the mailing list whenever he receives material he regards as "erotically arousing or sexually provocative."

Much of it was aimed at teenagers and children by mailers who obtain lists of young persons through purchase of mailing lists, school directories and use of alluring ads.

The East Liverpool Area chapter of the Red Cross has announced it will sponsor another mother and baby care class session in the fall.

The first course was concluded Wednesday night at the Metsch-Harker Nurses residence at City Hospital.

The classes, which were held weekly in two-hour sessions, began March 27 when members were welcomed by Miss Nell Robinson, hospital administrator, who outlined the services being accomplished by the Red Cross.

Mrs. William J. Horger, Red Cross home nursing instructor, served as director of the class. She was assisted by Miss Donna Smith, a nurse at City Hospital.

Certificates were presented Mrs. Judy Wyke, Mrs. Esther Jones, Mrs. Mary Kay Groom, Mrs. Linda Bailey, Mrs. Janet Hildebrand, Mrs. Elaine Durbin, Mrs. Lynn McIntosh, Mrs. Deloris Robertson, Mrs. Phyllis Pollard, Mrs. Joan Casto, Mrs. Rita Christen, Mrs. Becky Obenour, Mrs. Sondra Mumaw, Mrs. Carrie McMahon and Mrs. Wanda Wyse.

Senior student nurses assisting with the class and social hour which followed each session were Jane Miles, Sherry Johnston, Louise Kline, Sandy Collins, Linda Johnston, Cheryl Anderson, Nancy Lessel, Susan Hargraves and Jodale Kilbreath.

Council's Action Planned Monday For 4 Proposals

City Council is scheduled to act on four ordinances and resolutions at its first May meeting Monday night at 8.

An ordinance will be presented to transfer $2,000 to the income tax department to finance a citywide summer survey as a way of updating the department's records on potential taxpayers. The house - to - house canvasses have been periodically in the past to list residents, business houses and other potential taxpayers.

A resolution will be presented authorizing the Board of Public Utilities, which administers the water department, to advertise for bids and sign a new 10-year contract for electrical power for its operations. Although the Ohio Power Co. is the only potential bidder, state law requires the board to call for sealed offers.

Council also will consider resolutions authorizing the administration to advertise for bids on repair of the City Jail and on a year's supply of gasoline, oil, road salt and other materials for the fire, police, street and incinerator departments.

and county officials and Ohio Highway Department representatives Friday at the highway department's Division 11 office in New Philadelphia.

The city will seek to have the state government allocate the money from part of the proceeds of a bond issue approved by Ohio voters at the November 1968 general election. It will ask $256,000 for the Maine Blvd. project, $160,000 for Shadyside Ave. improvement, $72,000 for the storm sewer project on Pennsylvania Ave. and $400,000 as the local share of the Freeway's eastward extension.

The area delegation was comprised of the mayor, Safety-Service Director Robert E. Vodrey, Richard Sanford, Liverpool Township trustee; State Rep. Clarence Wetzel, County Engineer Bert Dawson Jr. and his assistant, Byron Cox. They met with Levi (Jack) Kimble, head of the division 11 office.

Kimble told the group he does not believe the highway department will be connected with the distribution of funds, but said he would lend any possible support to the city's requests. Wetzel said he will urge that any funds in excess of the amounts already allocated be earmarked for the East Liverpool work.

Wetzel requested that East Liverpool's Council enact a resolution as soon as possible setting forth its requirements and send copies to P. E. Masheter, highway director, Kimble, and himself. He also proposed that Liverpool Township trustees and county commissioners adopt similar resolutions.

State Sen. Douglas Applegate of Steubenville phoned the mayor while the meeting was in progress and said he was "in full accord" with the city's requests. Boyd, Dawson and Sanford also indicated their support.

Kimble told the delegation resolutions already have been filed with his office from Salem, Columbiana and Leetonia groups endorsing a proposal to build a new state highway from the Ohio River - Lake Erie Freeway east of Leetonia to State Route 45 southeast of Leetonia.

laws. These measures are detested by the trade unions that form the backbone of the Labor party's political support.

It was the latest in a series of grievances that alienated Wilson from important factions in his party. Many Labor MPs fearful of losing their seats cite the consistently dismal ratings the party receives in public opinon polls.

These dissidents argue that Labor's best chance is to ditch Wilson, blame past troubles on him and prepare for the next national election in 1971 by choosing a new leader now.

Britain's parliamentary system allows this, and the opposition Conservatives used such a technique a decade ago.

But a prime minister who refuses to quit under parliamentary pressure holds a trump card. He can dissolve parliament and force new elections. Should Wilson do this now, polls indicate some 200 Labor MPs would be almost certain to lose their seats.

'Dashing' Air Race Awaited

LONDON (AP) — About 400 contestants take off Sunday in a zany air race that poses more problems on the ground than up above.

The idea is to get from the top of the Post Office Tower in London to the Empire State Building in New York—or the other way around—as fast as possible.

To beat congested downtown traffic in the two capitals, the fliers will resort to helicopters, speedboats and even a rickshaw.

London's Daily Mail, sponsor of the race, has offered two prizes of $12,000 each for the shortest time each way. Other firms have added special categories with additional prizes totaling some $144,000.

The 21 categories range from supersonic jets entered by the Royal Navy to 80-mile-an-hour light aircraft. There is even a slot for ordinary airline passengers who let others do their flying for them.

Angus McPherson, the Daily Mail air correspondent, called the race "the most fantastic aviation event of the century."

Not all contestants will fly o at once. They have until nex Sunday. The first to take off wi be Anne Alcock, an 18-year-ol niece of one of the pioneers o the first non-stop transatlanti flight.

She will descend from the to of the Post Office Tower in a elevator going 600 feet a minute After that it's up to her how t get to the airport.

The race marks the 50th anni versary of the first non-sto transatlantic flight by Sr. John Alcock and Lt. Arthur Whitte Brown in 1919. They completed the 1,880-mile flight from St John's, Nfld., to Clifden, Ire land, in 5 hours 57 minutes flying a Vickers Vimy.

Britain's navy hopes to set a New York-London speed record in the race.

The navy has entered three Phantom supersonic jets built by McDonnell in the United States. They have extra-power Rolls Royce engines giving speeds around 1,400 miles an hour.

The Phantoms are 2-1 favorites with British bookmakers.

Primary Election Choices

The attitude of the East Liverpool municipal government toward the problems facing the community in the next two years will depend largely upon the type of candidates selected from the two parties in Tuesday's primary election.

All the Democrats and Republicans seeking Council posts are avowedly for economy, progress, development, efficiency and improved services without increased taxation.

But the responsibilities of leadership require more than campaign expressions of optimism, hope and promise. City government is complex, and demands thoughtful consideration of many factors and allegiance to the total community over neighborhood loyalties before it obtains a mark of success.

Both parties have some sizeable contests for council - at - large, while the Democrats have five candidates in the First Ward, and three-way races in two others.

VETERAN GOP Councilman Robert Sample has consistently shown the common sense ability required of the post and should be re-nominated by his party. J. E. Curry, with the benefit of board of education experience and a wide knowledge of the city, and Richard Carter, with a background of union leadership, deserve candidacies.

Incumbent Democrat Councilman - at - large Donal Burcham has applied himself to legislative duties and warrants another term. Lawrence Regis Allison and Paul Boggess, a teacher, rate serious consideration as the other two nominees.

The First Ward Democrat five-way contest offers voters an opportunity to provide some new blood in their City Hall representation. Norman McMillan, a potter, and Clyde Christian, steelworker, might well fill that role.

James Cunningham, former Councilman, has the knowledge of Council duties which should give him an edge over his opponent in the Democrat Second Ward race. Incumbent GOP Second Ward Councilman John Wilson has earned a renomination for his services over the past two years.

In the Third Ward, Glenn Morris, Democrat, has demonstrated an interest in city government and willingness to work which could prove valuable.

In the Fourth Ward, Willis Standley, although another political novice, also has devoted attention to civic affairs in the past, and should do well as a candidate.

Former GOP Fourth Ward Councilman Harold Maylone could put his experience in the post to good use if elected.

WE URGE qualified voters to weigh carefully the qualifications of all the men seeking office on the ballot, evaluating them not as friends nor as acquaintances but how they can fulfill the needs of the city.

The community in the 1970's should have the advantage of men with experience who also can look at problems with open minds, with the capacity to apply new solutions.

We don't need a return of the negativists, the unreliable, the naive and the noisy. There is much to be done, and we should have men willing to face up to the task of doing it.

School Levy Ballots

Even an optimistic estimate indicates the fate of the two crucial East Liverpool School levies will be decided by fewer than half of the city's qualified voters.

When 50 per cent of the electorate sits on its hands and allows the other 50 per cent to make a critical decision, the result can't possibly please everyone.

Many voters don't go to the polls at the primary elections. They have several reasons. Some feel the primaries "aren't important." Others are reluctant to voice a party preference. Some just don't want to take the trouble to vote.

The County Election Board has explained the law many times, but many voters do not know that they may vote Tuesday on only the school issues, skipping the party primaries entirely. They need not indicate a party affiliation, which somehow is embarassing to some persons.

All they need do is go to the usual polling place and explain that they want to vote only on the special issues. The poll workers will give them the lone, short ballot showing the two school issues. If the voter has taken time to think through the issue, marking the ballot is just a matter of seconds.

If more voters will take advantage of this little-known law Tuesday, it may boost the turnout and give a more representative indication of the majority opinion.

If you were thinking of skipping the primaries Tuesday, you can still do it, and express your feelings on the school issues. Every citizen experiences a feeling of self-satisfaction as he sees that ballot drop into the box, recording his convictions and beliefs. Try it Tuesday!

The Will To Survive

Although the United States, probably the No. 1 target in any nuclear war, doesn't show much interest in civil defense, bomb shelters and other survival-oriented devices, at least one of the world's nuetral nations shows a great deal of concern.

Finland, peaceful and neutral, has been actively preparing to protect its citizens in the event of another world war—since 1960.

THE FINNISH GOVERNMENT has no plans to participate in another war but it does have fears that a nearby nation might, and that stray bombs or nuclear fallout might end up on Finnish territory.

Because of these fears, a number of massive stone structures with huge steel doors exist in Helsinki and other major cities today. They are bomb shelters, some of them adequate to hold 10,000 persons.

In the last eight years Finland has spent an annual average of $12.2 million for shelter construction, equipment purchase and salaries for permanent civil-defense workers.

Some 215,000 volunteers already have been trained for civil-defense work and the law requires others to do defense work if called.

Many of the substantial shelters are dug out of bedrock, reinforced with concrete and steel and interlaced with mazes of pipes and wires for air, water and electricity. Most of them could be sealed off completely for six hours and have adequate supplies of air.

THERE ARE CONTROL CENTERS throughout Finland from which rescue operations could be directed and a large "war room" containing a two-story illuminated map in the national civil defense headquarters shelter.

It is both gratifying and sobering to know that some of the inhabitants of the earth, who have little to say about whether nor not a nuclear holocaust is touched off, are determined to preserve life if at all possible and are going about it seriously and thoroughly.

Strong Pitch For Campus Crackdown

The Nixon administration has made another strong pitch for administrators and local officials to get tough with campus rioters.

John N. Mitchell, U.S. attorney general, said the administration has been patient in waiting for universities to deal satisfactorily with campus disorders.

OBSERVING THAT THE campus crisis is deteriorating instead of improving, Mr. Mitchell said: "The time has come for an end to patience. The time has come for us to demand, in the strongest possible terms, that university officials, local law enforcement agencies and local courts apply the law. I call for an end to minority tyranny on the nation's campuses and for the immediate establishment of civil peace and the protection of individual rights."

Two of Mitchell's aides also assailed campus turmoil in Law Day speeches.

William H. Rehnquist, assistant attorney general, declared the violent demonstrators are "the new barbarians."

Richard G. Kleindienst, deputy attorney general, berated "ideological criminals" on the campus.

The theme of all three speeches was the same: a crackdown on student disorders is overdue.

It is disgusting to see prestigious institutions forced to capitulate to irresponsible student elemens.

Unless more college and universiy leaders disregard disruptive student and faculty groups and move firmly to cool campus unrest, it will prove that the academically oriented mind is incapable of responding appropriately to violence.

MANY ACADEMIC leaders have been so concerned with being fair to minorities that they are willing to be unfair to the majority.

Emphasis of the tough Law Day speeches was on local solution of campus problems through academic leaders and law enforcement officials. Future federal intervention was not ruled out, however.

Local cooperation in prompt disciplinary and court action will put a quick end to campus strife without the need for federal intervention.

Gaps Within Gaps

By Art Buchwald

WASHINGTON — What everyone is discovering in the recent youth turmoil is that there are generation gaps within generation gaps. The "over 30" distinction, as far as the generation gap is concerned, is passe and now only a few years separate the groups that aren't communicating with each other.

Art Buchwald

A 23-year-old friend of mine, recently graduated from college, said, "I don't know what's gotten into the kids today in the universities. I can't seem to get through to them. Every time I try to discuss things with them they tell me I'm too old to understand their problems and people like me are part of the corrupt system that they are determined to destroy. Even my kid brother says it's hopeless to change my way of thinking."

His kid brother, aged 19, came in a little later. "At least we know what we want out of life—better education, a say in the affairs of the school, a right to choose our own curriculum, no ROTC, abolishment of the draft, an end to the war in Vietnam, the destruction of the military-industrial complex and the finish of the Dow Chemical Co.

"BUT THESE 16 and 17-year-olds don't know what the heck they want. They're ready to tear down everything. I really get frightened when they get involved in our demonstrations."

A 16-year-old neighbor protested that his group was moderate compared to the 14- and 15-year-olds. "Have you ever tried to talk to a 14 or 15-year-old about anything?" he asked me. "They don't want to listen to anybody. They say if we 16 and 17-year-olds don't agree with what they're going for, we can lump it. We're the ones, they say, who messed things up and they're going to do whatever they damn please. But when you ask them what they want, they have no idea."

Two 15-year-old students said, "We know what we want. We want the right to drive cars. Why should the 16 and 17-year-olds be given licenses? If we're old enough to go to school, we're old enough to drive. We're sick and tired of the 16-year-olds treating us like children. And we're not going to stand for it. They better listen to us, because if they don't they're going to have to deal with the 13-year-olds, and heaven help them if the 13-year-olds get the upper hand."

"THE 13-YEAR-OLDS are pretty bad?" I asked!

"You have no idea. They're a bunch of spoiled brats. They've been given too much. Everything comes to them on a silver platter. We 15-year-olds know what it is to fight for something but a 13-year-old is hardly out of diapers and he's trying to tell teen-agers how to run their lives."

I naturally sought out a 13-year-old to see if they were having a generation gap.

"You bet your sweet bippy we are. The subteen-agers are disgusting. They say they should have as much to do with our public school as the seniors. They want to run the student council, be on all the teams, eat at the same tables as the 13-year-olds, go to our dances, and they don't see why they shouldn't graduate at 11 instead of 13. What they need is a good beating."

I ASSUMED the generation gap would stop with 11-year-olds but I was wrong. An 11-year-old friend of my daughter said the most hopeless, useless task was trying to get through to the 8 and 9-year-olds.

"They ruin everything," she said. "They wreck the school bus, they're always making noise, they use dirty language and they're mean. Ugh."

I saw a 9-year-old the next day, and he confirmed how serious the generation gap has become.

"If you think we're bad," he said, throwing a rock at a cat, "You should see the kids in kindergarten."

As a group, we would like to express thanks to the Cemetery Board of the Columbiana County Memorial Park for the beautiful Cross on the hillside.

At night as people are traveling on the highway and see the Cross lit up, it is truly a wonderful sight.

Many times we are quick to criticize, but when we approve of something, we often neglect to express our feelings. Again, thanks from our group and we are sure it is the expression of many others who have seen the Cross at night.

RAYMOND MOLEY

Nixon's 100 Days

On or near the last day of April there were various editorial references to President Nixon's hundred days. The use of that term had its origin in 1933 when Congres met in special session from March 9 to June 16. Its distinction was a remarkable series of legislative measures designed to meet the crisis of the Great Depression.

From time to time since, my editorial associates have suggested that I write a piece comparing and contrastig current new administrations with those days so long ago. For I am almost alone a survivor of the people who participated in policy making in Washington during those exciting times.

President Roosevelt, his secretarial staff and all of his original Cabinet are gone. Only one senator, Richard Russell, of those who responded to the roll call on March 9, 1933, is still in office. And only a handfull of representatives.

WITH EACH NEWLY ELECTED president—in 1953, 1961 and 1965 — when I wrote comments, the comparisons became less relevant and the contrasts were greater when compared with 1933. And now in 1969 likenesses are practically nonexistent.

For in 1933 there was no war, no really critical foreign problem, no racial conflict, little concern with the so-called urban problem and the U.S. Army barely numbered 100,000 men. The issue at home was economic stagnation and immense unemployment. The problem was not inflation, as it is now, but what was then called "reflation."

The government's role in society was minimal in 1933. Federal civilian employes numbered only 600,000. It is now over 3 million. The expenditure of the federal establishment was $4.6 billion and half of this was borrowed, and the military cost was $648 million. No item for federal welfare appears in the records, although Roosevelt asked for and received half a million dollars for relief that spring.

Roosevelt's election carried with him a sizable Democratic majority in Congress and that Congress gave him substantially what he asked for — which was a great deal. In the hundred days there were enacted no less than 15 pieces of major legislation.

The new regime faced a bank crisis and the first order of business was a bank holiday. Following that, the banks were rescued in a blazingly successful operation. This inspired the country and gave the President unbelievalble popularity.

But since human nature and the behavior of men in office remain unchanged, there are a few comparisons between the administration in Washington now and in 1933. Almost every newly installed administration generates within itself an infection of euphoria.

In the early New Deal this extended all the way down from the President to the latest addition to the official family. A certain cockiness prevailed everywhere and when some objection was made about what was going on the standard answer was, "Who in hell won this election.?"

The holdover bureaucracy was quite willing to serve with the new president. Jobs outside were too scarce to come by for any reaction except compliance with the new master's wishes.

TODAY IN WASHINGTON the bureaucracy is so big, the programs so complex and the security of Civil Service so complete that the new department and bureau heads must move with great caution. The old operators must go on until the new bosses learn the nature of the administrative machinery which they are supposed to direct. This has a sobering influence upon the department heads and indeed upon the President.

As it is now, the President and his major department heads are finding difficulty in finding people even for the relatively few positions that are open.

All this is reflected in the President's revision of the Johnson budget and under a new method of budget making. While the President shows a surplus, there is really little or no economy in the new figures.

Primary Election Choices

The attitude of the East Liverpool municipal government toward the problems facing the community in the next two years will depend largely upon the type of candidates selected from the two parties in Tuesday's primary election.

All the Democrats and Republicans seeking Council posts are avowedly for economy, progress, development, efficiency and improved services without increased taxation.

But the responsibilities of leadership require more than campaign expressions of optimism, hope and promise. City government is complex, and demands thoughtful consideration of many factors and allegiance to the total community over neighborhood loyalties before it obtains a mark of success.

Both parties have some sizeable contests for council - at - large, while the Democrats have five candidates in the First Ward, and three-way races in two others.

VETERAN GOP Councilman Robert Sample has consistently shown the common sense ability required of the post and should be re-nominated by his party. J. E. Curry, with the benefit of board of education experience and a wide knowledge of the city, and Richard Carter, with a background of union leadership, deserve candidacies.

Incumbent Democrat Councilman - at - large Donal Burcham has applied himself to legislative duties and warrants another term. Lawrence Regis Allison and Paul Boggess, a teacher, rate serious consideration as the other two nominees.

The First Ward Democrat five-way contest offers voters an opportunity to provide some new blood in their City Hall representation. Norman McMillan, a potter, and Clyde Christian, steelworker, might well fill that role.

James Cunningham, former Councilman, has the knowledge of Council duties which should give him an edge over his opponent in the Democrat Second Ward race. Incumbent GOP Second Ward Councilman John Wilson has earned a renomination for his services over the past two years.

In the Third Ward, Glenn Morris, Democrat, has demonstrated an interest in city government and willingness to work which could prove valuable.

In the Fourth Ward, Willis Standley, although another political novice, also has devoted attention to civic affairs in the past, and should do well as a candidate.

Former GOP Fourth Ward Councilman Harold Maylone could put his experience in the post to good use if elected.

WE URGE qualified voters to weigh carefully the qualifications of all the men seeking office on the ballot, evaluating them not as friends nor as acquaintances but how they can fulfill the needs of the city.

The community in the 1970's should have the advantage of men with experience who also can look at problems with open minds, with the capacity to apply new solutions.

We don't need a return of the negativists, the unreliable, the naive and the noisy. There is much to be done, and we should have men willing to face up to the task of doing it.

School Levy Ballots

Even an optimistic estimate indicates the fate of the two crucial East Liverpool School levies will be decided by fewer than half of the city's qualified voters.

When 50 per cent of the electorate sits on its hands and allows the other 50 per cent to make a critical decision, the result can't possibly please everyone.

Many voters don't go to the polls at the primary elections. They have several reasons. Some feel the primaries "aren't important." Others are reluctant to voice a party preference. Some just don't want to take the trouble to vote.

The County Election Board has explained the law many times, but many voters do not know that they may vote Tuesday on only the school issues, skipping the party primaries entirely. They need not indicate a party affiliation, which somehow is embarassing to some persons.

All they need do is go to the usual polling place and explain that they want to vote only on the special issues. The poll workers will give them the lone, short ballot showing the two school issues. If the voter has taken time to think through the issue, marking the ballot is just a matter of seconds.

If more voters will take advantage of this little-known law Tuesday, it may boost the turnout and give a more representative indication of the majority opinion.

If you were thinking of skipping the primaries Tuesday, you can still do it, and express your feelings on the school issues. Every citizen experiences a feeling of self-satisfaction as he sees that ballot drop into the box, recording his convictions and beliefs. Try it Tuesday!

The Will To Survive

Although the United States, probably the No. 1 target in any nuclear war, doesn't show much interest in civil defense, bomb shelters and other survival-oriented devices, at least one of the world's nuetral nations shows a great deal of concern.

Finland, peaceful and neutral, has been actively preparing to protect its citizens in the event of another world war—since 1960.

THE FINNISH GOVERNMENT has no plans to participate in another war but it does have fears that a nearby nation might, and that stray bombs or nuclear fallout might end up on Finnish territory.

Because of these fears, a number of massive stone structures with huge steel doors exist in Helsinki and other major cities today. They are bomb shelters, some of them adequate to hold 10,000 persons.

In the last eight years Finland has spent an annual average of $12.2 million for shelter construction, equipment purchase and salaries for permanent civil-defense workers.

Some 215,000 volunteers already have been trained for civil-defense work and the law requires others to do defense work if called.

Many of the substantial shelters are dug out of bedrock, reinforced with concrete and steel and interlaced with mazes of pipes and wires for air, water and electricity. Most of them could be sealed off completely for six hours and have adequate supplies of air.

THERE ARE CONTROL CENTERS throughout Finland from which rescue operations could be directed and a large "war room" containing a two-story illuminated map in the national civil defense headquarters shelter.

It is both gratifying and sobering to know that some of the inhabitants of the earth, who have little to say about whether nor not a nuclear holocaust is touched off, are determined to preserve life if at all possible and are going about it seriously and thoroughly.

Strong Pitch For Campus Crackdown

The Nixon administration has made another strong pitch for administrators and local officials to get tough with campus rioters.

John N. Mitchell, U.S. attorney general, said the administration has been patient in waiting for universities to deal satisfactorily with campus disorders.

OBSERVING THAT THE campus crisis is deteriorating instead of improving, Mr. Mitchell said: "The time has come for an end to patience. The time has come for us to demand, in the strongest possible terms, that university officials, local law enforcement agencies and local courts apply the law. I call for an end to minority tyranny on the nation's campuses and for the immediate establishment of civil peace and the protection of individual rights."

Two of Mitchell's aides also assailed campus turmoil in Law Day speeches.

William H. Rehnquist, assistant attorney general, declared the violent demonstrators are "the new barbarians."

Richard G. Kleindienst, deputy attorney general, berated "ideological criminals" on the campus.

The theme of all three speeches was the same: a crackdown on student disorders is overdue.

It is disgusting to see prestigious institutions forced to capitulate to irresponsible student elemens.

Unless more college and universiy leaders disregard disruptive student and faculty groups and move firmly to cool campus unrest, it will prove that the academically oriented mind is incapable of responding appropriately to violence.

MANY ACADEMIC leaders have been so concerned with being fair to minorities that they are willing to be unfair to the majority.

Emphasis of the tough Law Day speeches was on local solution of campus problems through academic leaders and law enforcement officials. Future federal intervention was not ruled out, however.

Local cooperation in prompt disciplinary and court action will put a quick end to campus strife without the need for federal intervention.

Gaps Within Gaps

By Art Buchwald

WASHINGTON — What everyone is discovering in the recent youth turmoil is that there are generation gaps within generation gaps. The "over 30" distinction, as far as the generation gap is concerned, is passe and now only a few years separate the groups that aren't communicating with each other.

Art Buchwald

A 23-year-old friend of mine, recently graduated from college, said, "I don't know what's gotten into the kids today in the universities. I can't seem to get through to them. Every time I try to discuss things with them they tell me I'm too old to understand their problems and people like me are part of the corrupt system that they are determined to destroy. Even my kid brother says it's hopeless to change my way of thinking."

His kid brother, aged 19, came in a little later. "At least we know what we want out of life—better education, a say in the affairs of the school, a right to choose our own curriculum, no ROTC, abolishment of the draft, an end to the war in Vietnam, the destruction of the military-industrial complex and the finish of the Dow Chemical Co.

"BUT THESE 16 and 17-year-olds don't know what the heck they want. They're ready to tear down everything. I really get frightened when they get involved in our demonstrations."

A 16-year-old neighbor protested that his group was moderate compared to the 14- and 15-year-olds. "Have you ever tried to talk to a 14 or 15-year-old about anything?" he asked me. "They don't want to listen to anybody. They say if we 16 and 17-year-olds don't agree with what they're going for, we can lump it. We're the ones, they say, who messed things up and they're going to do whatever they damn please. But when you ask them what they want, they have no idea."

Two 15-year-old students said, "We know what we want. We want the right to drive cars. Why should the 16 and 17-year-olds be given licenses? If we're old enough to go to school, we're old enough to drive. We're sick and tired of the 16-year-olds treating us like children. And we're not going to stand for it. They better listen to us, because if they don't they're going to have to deal with the 13-year-olds, and heaven help them if the 13-year-olds get the upper hand."

"THE 13-YEAR-OLDS are pretty bad?" I asked!

"You have no idea. They're a bunch of spoiled brats. They've been given too much. Everything comes to them on a silver platter. We 15-year-olds know what it is to fight for something but a 13-year-old is hardly out of diapers and he's trying to tell teen-agers how to run their lives."

I naturally sought out a 13-year-old to see if they were having a generation gap.

"You bet your sweet bippy we are. The subteen-agers are disgusting. They say they should have as much to do with our public school as the seniors. They want to run the student council, be on all the teams, eat at the same tables as the 13-year-olds, go to our dances, and they don't see why they shouldn't graduate at 11 instead of 13. What they need is a good beating."

I ASSUMED the generation gap would stop with 11-year-olds but I was wrong. An 11-year-old friend of my daughter said the most hopeless, useless task was trying to get through to the 8 and 9-year-olds.

"They ruin everything," she said. "They wreck the school bus, they're always making noise, they use dirty language and they're mean. Ugh."

I saw a 9-year-old the next day, and he confirmed how serious the generation gap has become.

"If you think we're bad," he said, throwing a rock at a cat, "You should see the kids in kindergarten."

As a group, we would like to express thanks to the Cemetery Board of the Columbiana County Memorial Park for the beautiful Cross on the hillside.

At night as people are traveling on the highway and see the Cross lit up, it is truly a wonderful sight.

Many times we are quick to criticize, but when we approve of something, we often neglect to express our feelings. Again, thanks from our group and we are sure it is the expression of many others who have seen the Cross at night.

RAYMOND MOLEY

Nixon's 100 Days

On or near the last day of April there were various editorial references to President Nixon's hundred days. The use of that term had its origin in 1933 when Congres met in special session from March 9 to June 16. Its distinction was a remarkable series of legislative measures designed to meet the crisis of the Great Depression.

From time to time since, my editorial associates have suggested that I write a piece comparing and contrastig current new administrations with those days so long ago. For I am almost alone a survivor of the people who participated in policy making in Washington during those exciting times.

President Roosevelt, his secretarial staff and all of his original Cabinet are gone. Only one senator, Richard Russell, of those who responded to the roll call on March 9, 1933, is still in office. And only a handfull of representatives.

WITH EACH NEWLY ELECTED president—in 1953, 1961 and 1965 — when I wrote comments, the comparisons became less relevant and the contrasts were greater when compared with 1933. And now in 1969 likenesses are practically nonexistent.

For in 1933 there was no war, no really critical foreign problem, no racial conflict, little concern with the so-called urban problem and the U.S. Army barely numbered 100,000 men. The issue at home was economic stagnation and immense unemployment. The problem was not inflation, as it is now, but what was then called "reflation."

The government's role in society was minimal in 1933. Federal civilian employes numbered only 600,000. It is now over 3 million. The expenditure of the federal establishment was $4.6 billion and half of this was borrowed, and the military cost was $648 million. No item for federal welfare appears in the records, although Roosevelt asked for and received half a million dollars for relief that spring.

Roosevelt's election carried with him a sizable Democratic majority in Congress and that Congress gave him substantially what he asked for — which was a great deal. In the hundred days there were enacted no less than 15 pieces of major legislation.

The new regime faced a bank crisis and the first order of business was a bank holiday. Following that, the banks were rescued in a blazingly successful operation. This inspired the country and gave the President unbelievalble popularity.

But since human nature and the behavior of men in office remain unchanged, there are a few comparisons between the administration in Washington now and in 1933. Almost every newly installed administration generates within itself an infection of euphoria.

In the early New Deal this extended all the way down from the President to the latest addition to the official family. A certain cockiness prevailed everywhere and when some objection was made about what was going on the standard answer was, "Who in hell won this election.?"

The holdover bureaucracy was quite willing to serve with the new president. Jobs outside were too scarce to come by for any reaction except compliance with the new master's wishes.

TODAY IN WASHINGTON the bureaucracy is so big, the programs so complex and the security of Civil Service so complete that the new department and bureau heads must move with great caution. The old operators must go on until the new bosses learn the nature of the administrative machinery which they are supposed to direct. This has a sobering influence upon the department heads and indeed upon the President.

As it is now, the President and his maior department heads are finding difficulty in finding people even for the relatively few positions that are open.

All this is reflected in the President's revision of the Johnson budget and under a new method of budget making. While the President shows a surplus, there is really little or no economy in the new figures.

2 Key Church Organizations Ask End Of Tax Exemption

WASHINGTON (AP) — Two of the nation's major church organizations have asked Congress to lift the traditional tax exemption for church-owned businesses.

The proposal from the National Council of Churches and the United States Catholic Conference got high praise from Rep. Wilbur Mills, D-Ar., chairman of the House Ways and Means Committee which is writing a tax reform bill intended to lift the exemption anyway.

"That's fine that they did that," Mills said. "That's my line of thinking and we intended to have that."

The proposal also appeared to be in line with the Nixon administration proposal that tax exemptions be eliminated for unrelated businesses operated by all nonprofit organizations.

The church statement was presented to Mill's committee Friday.

"Such exemption makes available to churches a potential advantage over tax-paying organizations engaged in commercial business activities," the statement said.

But many church-connected businesses—such as The Christian Brothers wines corporation operated in California by the Roman Catholic order of the same name—are tax-paying ventures.

The present tax exemption is for businesses operated directly by churches and church congregations. And there is some question how many of those exist.

A knowledgeable Catholic source said only two Catholic-owned ventures would be affected—Loyola University's WWL television and radio station in New Orleans and the Norbertine Fathers' WBAY-TV station in Green Bay, Wis.

A number of Protestant church-owned businesses are likely to be affected said a spokesman for the National Council of Churches.

"We don't know how many," said Bruno Kroker, a council public relations officer. "I would say quite a few—all across the country."

2 Key Church Organizations Ask End Of Tax Exemption

WASHINGTON (AP) — Two of the nation's major church organizations have asked Congress to lift the traditional tax exemption for church-owned businesses.

The proposal from the National Council of Churches and the United States Catholic Conference got high praise from Rep. Wilbur Mills, D-Ar., chairman of the House Ways and Means Committee which is writing a tax reform bill intended to lift the exemption anyway.

"That's fine that they did that," Mills said. "That's my line of thinking and we intended to have that."

The proposal also appeared to be in line with the Nixon administration proposal that tax exemptions be eliminated for unrelated businesses operated by all nonprofit organizations.

The church statement was presented to Mill's committee Friday.

"Such exemption makes available to churches a potential advantage over tax-paying organizations engaged in commercial business activities," the statement said.

But many church-connected businesses—such as The Christian Brothers wines corporation operated in California by the Roman Catholic order of the same name—are tax-paying ventures.

The present tax exemption is for businesses operated directly by churches and church congregations. And there is some question how many of those exist.

A knowledgeable Catholic source said only two Catholic-owned ventures would be affected—Loyola University's WWL television and radio station in New Orleans and the Norbertine Fathers' WBAY-TV station in Green Bay, Wis.

A number of Protestant church-owned businesses are likely to be affected said a spokesman for the National Council of Churches.

"We don't know how many," said Bruno Kroker, a council public relations officer. "I would say quite a few—all across the country."

For Southern Local Expansion

Students Push Bond Issue

ROOM FOR US? Dave Detchon, left, and Eddie Rhodes of Salineville, both eighth-grade students at the Salineville Elementary Building, point out the need for additional classrooms at Southern Local High School.

In a last - minute drive to help put the Southern Local School District bond issue over the top, a student - sponsored motor cavalcade will visit Highlandtown, Salineville and Summitville Monday night.

The rally and parade is being arranged by the "Concerned Southern Students" movement.

RONALD MALONE, senior class president, said the event is designed to emphasize why the 1.2-mill issue is necessary.

The band will perform and a loudspeaker will be used. Students will distribute literature door to door.

The literature will ask: "The rooms will cost the taxpayers about 12 cents per $100 evaluation—ARE WE WORTH IT?"

The Southern Local board of education placed the bond issue on the May 6 primary ballot because additional rooms are needed at the high school. The proposed six-room addition will cost $160,000.

The high school is located on Route 39 between Highlandtown and Salineville in Washington Township.

THE DISTRICT encompasses Franklin Township, Summitville, Salineville, Wayne, Highlandtown, the No. 16 area and the Glasgow area north and west of Wellsville.

Supt. Thomas Leek said when the new high school opened for classes in 1963, the capacity was 325 students. Present enrollment is 465 and the projected enrollment for September is nearly 500.

For the past few years, classes have been held in a book storage room. This year two classes are transported each day to the Highlandtown Elementary Building.

Leek added that because the state board of education's minimum standards require 45 units of instruction in a high school, the additional space is a must. He emphasized that the board of education "is not asking for frills, just six furnished and equipped classrooms."

For Southern Local Expansion

Students Push Bond Issue

ROOM FOR US? Dave Detchon, left, and Eddie Rhodes of Salineville, both eighth-grade students at the Salineville Elementary Building, point out the need for additional classrooms at Southern Local High School.

In a last - minute drive to help put the Southern Local School District bond issue over the top, a student - sponsored motor cavalcade will visit Highlandtown, Salineville and Summitville Monday night.

The rally and parade is being arranged by the "Concerned Southern Students" movement.

RONALD MALONE, senior class president, said the event is designed to emphasize why the 1.2-mill issue is necessary.

The band will perform and a loudspeaker will be used. Students will distribute literature door to door.

The literature will ask: "The rooms will cost the taxpayers about 12 cents per $100 evaluation—ARE WE WORTH IT?"

The Southern Local board of education placed the bond issue on the May 6 primary ballot because additional rooms are needed at the high school. The proposed six-room addition will cost $160,000.

The high school is located on Route 39 between Highlandtown and Salineville in Washington Township.

THE DISTRICT encompasses Franklin Township, Summitville, Salineville, Wayne, Highlandtown, the No. 16 area and the Glasgow area north and west of Wellsville.

Supt. Thomas Leek said when the new high school opened for classes in 1963, the capacity was 325 students. Present enrollment is 465 and the projected enrollment for September is nearly 500.

For the past few years, classes have been held in a book storage room. This year two classes are transported each day to the Highlandtown Elementary Building.

Leek added that because the state board of education's minimum standards require 45 units of instruction in a high school, the additional space is a must. He emphasized that the board of education "is not asking for frills, just six furnished and equipped classrooms."

LISBON — Judge J. L. MacDonald of Columbiana County Southwest Court suspended a 90-day jail sentence imposed Friday on Walter T. Jarvis of Chester for the Oct. 31 theft of a portable stereo and records owned by Rex and Donna Grafton of Wellsville RD 1.

Jarvis changed his plea from not guilty to guilty yesterday after the prosecution changed the affidavit to make the value of the stolen items "less than $60" instead of "more than $60." The reduction made the offense petty larceny instead of grand larceny.

Jarvis was not apprehended until April although a warrant for his arrest was issued in January. Dale A. Baker of Wellsville RD 1, charged with the same offense, received a suspended 90-day sentence Jan. 3 under identical circumstances.

Judge MacDonald suspended Jarvis' sentence on condition he is of good behavior and shares in making restitution for the stolen goods.

LISBON — James Sparks, 21, of Leetonia was placed on probation for five years Friday by Common Pleas Court Judge Raymond S. Buzzard for a burglary last June 19 in Salem.

Foot Patrolman Serves As Fundamental Link Between The Public And Law Enforcement

By ROBERT POPP

THE UNCANNY PERFORMANCE of a Teletype network linked to a computer memory bank, the rapidity of communication by ultra high frequency radio and other new, sophisticated tools of law enforcement seem to have relegated the plodding patrolman to the background in a business that becomes more complicated every year.

BUT NO COMPUTER ever quieted a hysterical woman and her sobbing children while persuading a drunken man to surrender a shotgun or knife with which he has terrorized his family.

NO COMPUTER ever cleaned up the human debris left at the scene of a grinding traffic crash, meanwhile sorting out the facts to find what triggered the tragedy.

NOBODY HAS invented a machine that will search a darkened factory yard after midnight, hunting for prowlers; drag an inert drunk out of an alleyway and load him into a cruiser, filth and all, or pursue and apprehend a drunken driver who has left a wide swath of destruction in a traffic lane.

THE POINT of the story is that the rank-and-file patrolmen, the men who deal directly with the public on every conceivable basis, appreciate the new equipment and methods that help them along the way.

BUT WHEN THE chips are down, it is a very mortal man, armed only with a badge, a blue uniform and a revolver, who must stand between the public that employs him and all the hoodlums and robbers and thieves and rapists and other malefactors who menace the order of civilized society.

The community will have an opportunity to pay tribute to the patrolmen and other law enforcement officers during National Police Week May 11-17. It's a good time to say to a patrolman:

"I know you're doing a job for a living, just like everyone else, but I want you to know that I appreciate the fact you're out there on a foot beat at 4 o'clock in the morning, or sitting by a telephone at headquarters, or driving a cruiser in a darkened residential neighborhood so that I can sleep soundly, knowing subconsciously that you're there if I need you.

"And thanks, too for the time you took my little girl to the hospital when she broke her arm, or helped locate my stolen car, or caught the fellow who foisted off a bum check on me. . . ."

Capt. Charles E. (Bill) Tice, who heads the department's uniformed division, knows the problems of the patrolman. He started out as a young patrolman nearly 20 years ago.

HE AGREES that it's the uniformed man who bears the brunt of the department's day-to-day work, despite the electronic aids that have been introduced in the last few years.

"That computer's fine, but it's no substitute for leg work and down-to-earth police work," the captain said. "When a patrolman arrives at the scene of a serious accident, all the decisions are his. He has to work fast to get the injured on the way to the hospital, clear the roadway and then start his investigation to find what happened. You can't find any of the answers in that situation in the computer's 'brain'."

The captain pointed out that the uniformed man in his cruiser at 2 in the morning "is the loneliest man in the world, because the whole town is asleep."

"Very few people ever see this community in the very dead of the night," he said. "The cruiser man lives with it every night if he works the midnight shift.

"The activity dies away slowly until all the business places are closed and there's almost no traffic, even in the heart of the downtown district. There are no pedestrians, no sound anywhere. The cruiser operator can see for several blocks and the only movement is the silent changing of the traffic lights.

"IT STAYS LIKE that from 2 until about 4:30. Then the town starts to come to life again. A few lights snap on in the upper stories of the homes. Those are the early-rising potters, getting ready to start another day.

"Then a trickle of traffic begins. Before the midnight man goes off duty, the town will be wide awake, bustling, ready for another busy day."

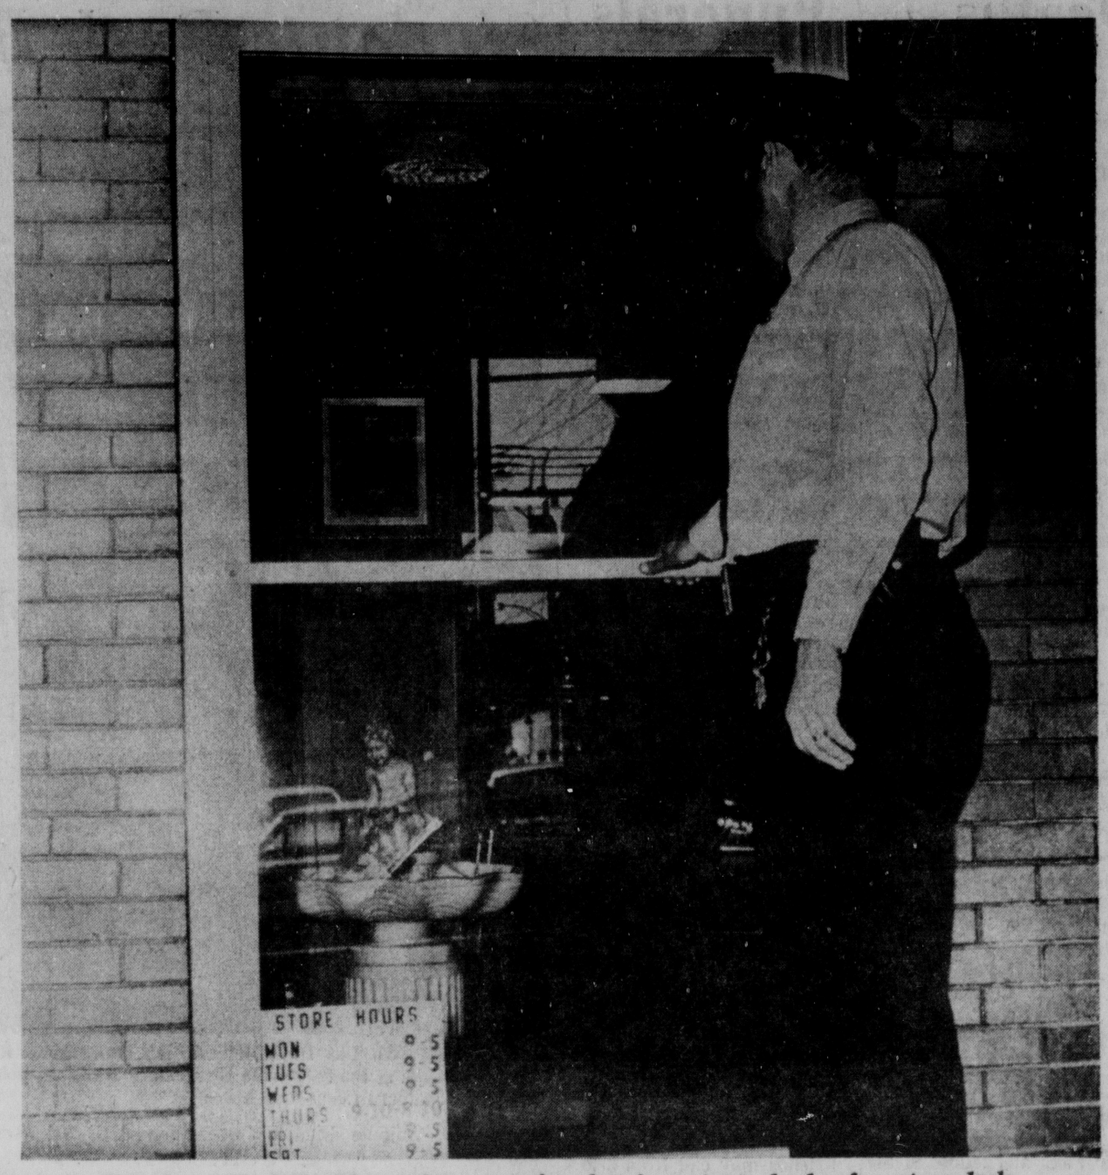

Patrolman Charles Coen is president of the Fraternal Order of Police Lodge, which will arrange the local observance of National Police Week. It will include the traditional "Peace Officers' Memorial Day," in honor of law enforcement men throughout the nation who lost their lives in line of duty in the preceding year.

Coen recently received a Jaycee award as the city's outstanding young police officer of the previous year. He said other Police Week events may include displays in windows of business places.

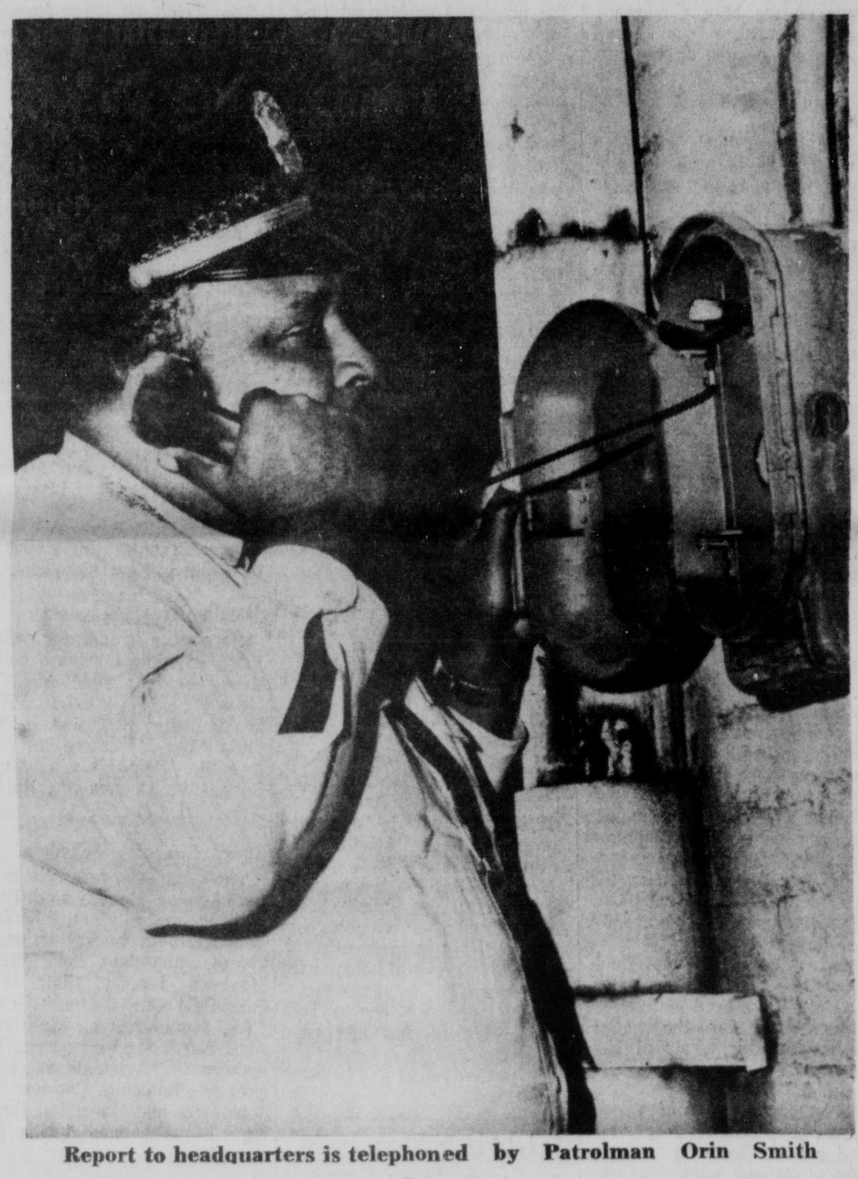

"If we accomplish one thing in this year's observance, I hope it will be a realization on the part of the public that a police officer is a human being, too," Coen said.

"He has a wife and children; he has a home to maintain and he has bills to pay. He's not a 'superman,' He's subject to headaches and colds and sinus trouble and aching feet and eyestrain, just like all the other people who work for a living.

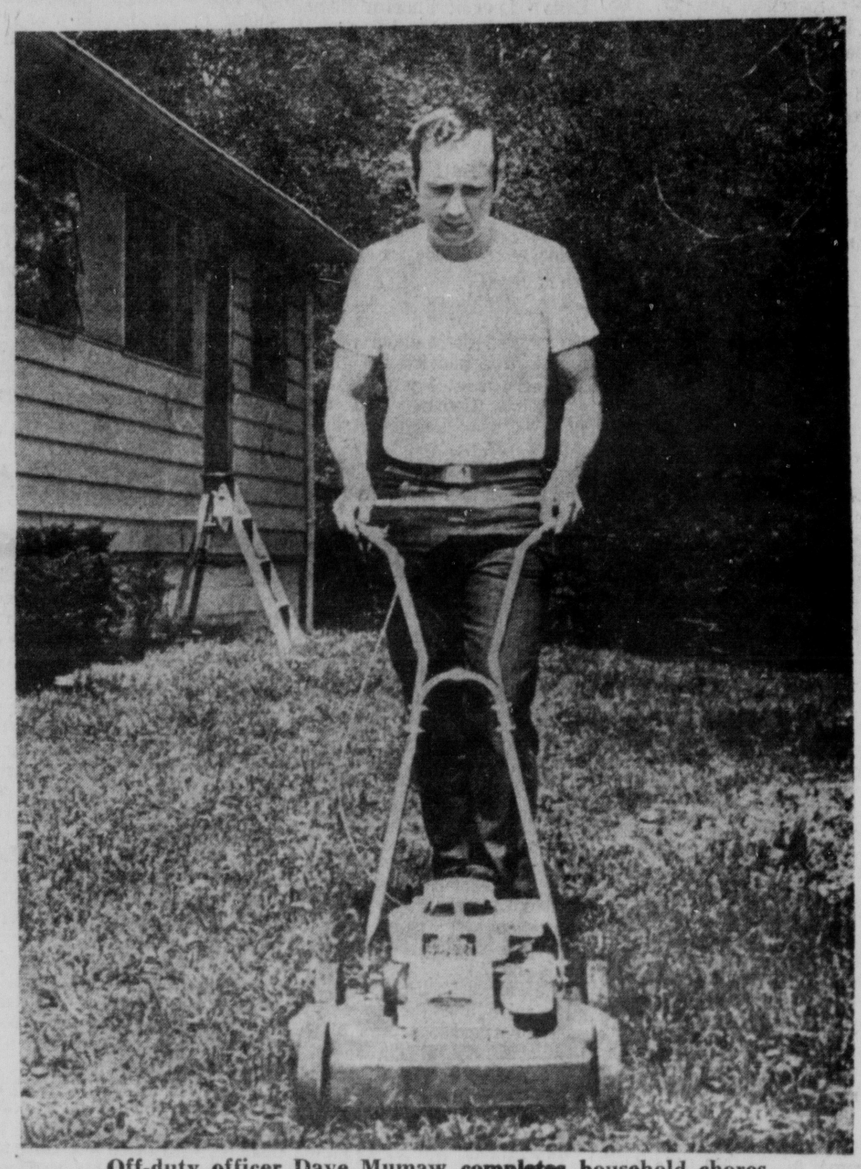

"He romps with his kids after work, he helps his wife with the dishes and he cuts the grass on his day off. Remember that a policeman is just an ordinary fellow in a blue uniform next time you encounter him at work."

Stamps In The News

Where the politicians of the world have failed, the philatelists have succeeded — establishing peaceful communications between Western nations and those behind the Iron Curtain.

The proof is the World Philatelic Exhibition to be held in Sofia, Bulgaria, from May 31 to June 8 in which 55 countries, including the U.S., will participate. Postal administrations and postal museums from all member countries of the World Postal Union will be exhibiting. World-renowned stamp collections worth more than $100 million will be on display. Catalogs on the exhibition are printed in English, German, French and Russian.

The emblem of the "Sofia 1969" World Philatelic Exhibition depicts a post-horn, symbol of the postal communications links between the nations of the world.

A NEW SERIES of regular postage stamps featuring a new profile portrait of Queen Juliana has been issued by the Netherlands. These new stamps will replace the definitive series depicting the Queen originally issued in 1953. The value is 1.25 gulden (35 cents U.S.).

STAMPS DO not have to be old to be valuable. At the recently held INTERPEX in New York, 11 Walt Disney 6c U.S. stamps with one color missing were sold for more than $5,000. A single stamp of the Disney issue with the black color entirely missing sold for $900. On the same day, sale of 20 of the 1968 U.S. 6c Christmas stamps with the light yellow color missing, including a vertical plate block of 10, sold for $2,055.

THE MAIL BAG: Doug and Bob England of Marion, Ohio, who enjoy reading the column in the Columbus Dispatch, and are new collectors, inquired as to what monies should be sent to obtain first-day covers of U.S. stamps. A money order (no checks or stamps), for the face value of the stamps to be affixed should be sent to the postmaster as indicated. If you desire a cover of a new 6-cent stamp, a self-addressed envelope plus a money order for the 6 center should be enclosed in an outer envelope to the postmaster.

ROBERT LOUIS Stevenson's novel "Treasure Island" was inspired by the Virgin Islands. In tribute to this literary masterpiece, the British Virgin Islands have issued four new stamps in commemoration of the 75th anniversary of Stevenson's death. The 4 cents shows Long John Silver and Jim Hawkins, 10 cents Jim's escape from the pirates, 40 cents the fight with Israel Hands and the $1 Treasure Trove.

IT ISN'T OFTEN that a nation behind the Iron Curtain issues stamps praising the United States. But Hungary has just issued a souvenir sheet dedicated to the Apollo 8 flight. The sheet bears the names of the U.S. astronauts Frank Borman, James Lovell and William Anders. At the right is the date of the flight and, in Hungarian, "The man in Proximity to the Moon." The illustration features the Apollo 8 zooming around the moon and the earth.

hunting for prowlers; drag an inert drunk out of an alleyway and load him into a cruiser, filth and all, or pursue and apprehend a drunken driver who has left a wide swath of destruction in a traffic lane.

THE POINT of the story is that the rank-and-file patrolmen, the men who deal directly with the public on every conceivable basis, appreciate the new equipment and methods that help them along the way.

BUT WHEN THE chips are down, it is a very mortal man, armed only with a badge, a blue uniform and a revolver, who must stand between the public that employs him and all the hoodlums and robbers and thieves and rapists and other malefactors who menace the order of civilized society.

The community will have an opportunity to pay tribute to the patrolmen and other law enforcement officers during National Police Week May 11-17. It's a good time to say to a patrolman:

"I know you're doing a job for a living, just like everyone else, but I want you to know that I appreciate the fact you're out there on a foot beat at 4 o'clock in the morning, or sitting by a telephone at headquarters, or driving a cruiser in a darkened residential neighborhood so that I can sleep soundly, knowing subconsciously that you're there if I need you.

"And thanks, too for the time you took my little girl to the hospital when she broke her arm, or helped locate my stolen car, or caught the fellow who foisted off a bum check on me. . . ."

Capt. Charles E. (Bill) Tice, who heads the department's uniformed division, knows the problems of the patrolman. He started out as a young patrolman nearly 20 years ago.

HE AGREES that it's the uniformed man who bears the brunt of the department's day-to-day work, despite the electronic aids that have been introduced in the last few years.

"That computer's fine, but it's no substitute for leg work and down-to-earth police work," the captain said. "When a patrolman arrives at the scene of a serious accident, all the decisions are his. He has to work fast to get the injured on the way to the hospital, clear the roadway and then start his investigation to find what happened. You can't find any of the answers in that situation in the computer's 'brain'."

The captain pointed out that the uniformed man in his cruiser at 2 in the morning "is the loneliest man in the world, because the whole town is asleep."

"Very few people ever see this community in the very dead of the night," he said. "The cruiser man lives with it every night if he works the midnight shift.

"The activity dies away slowly until all the business places are closed and there's almost no traffic, even in the heart of the downtown district. There are no pedestrians, no sound anywhere. The cruiser operator can see for several blocks and the only movement is the silent changing of the traffic lights.

"IT STAYS LIKE that from 2 until about 4:30. Then the town starts to come to life again. A few lights snap on in the upper stories of the homes. Those are the early-rising potters, getting ready to start another day.

"Then a trickle of traffic begins. Before the midnight man goes off duty, the town will be wide awake, bustling, ready for another busy day."

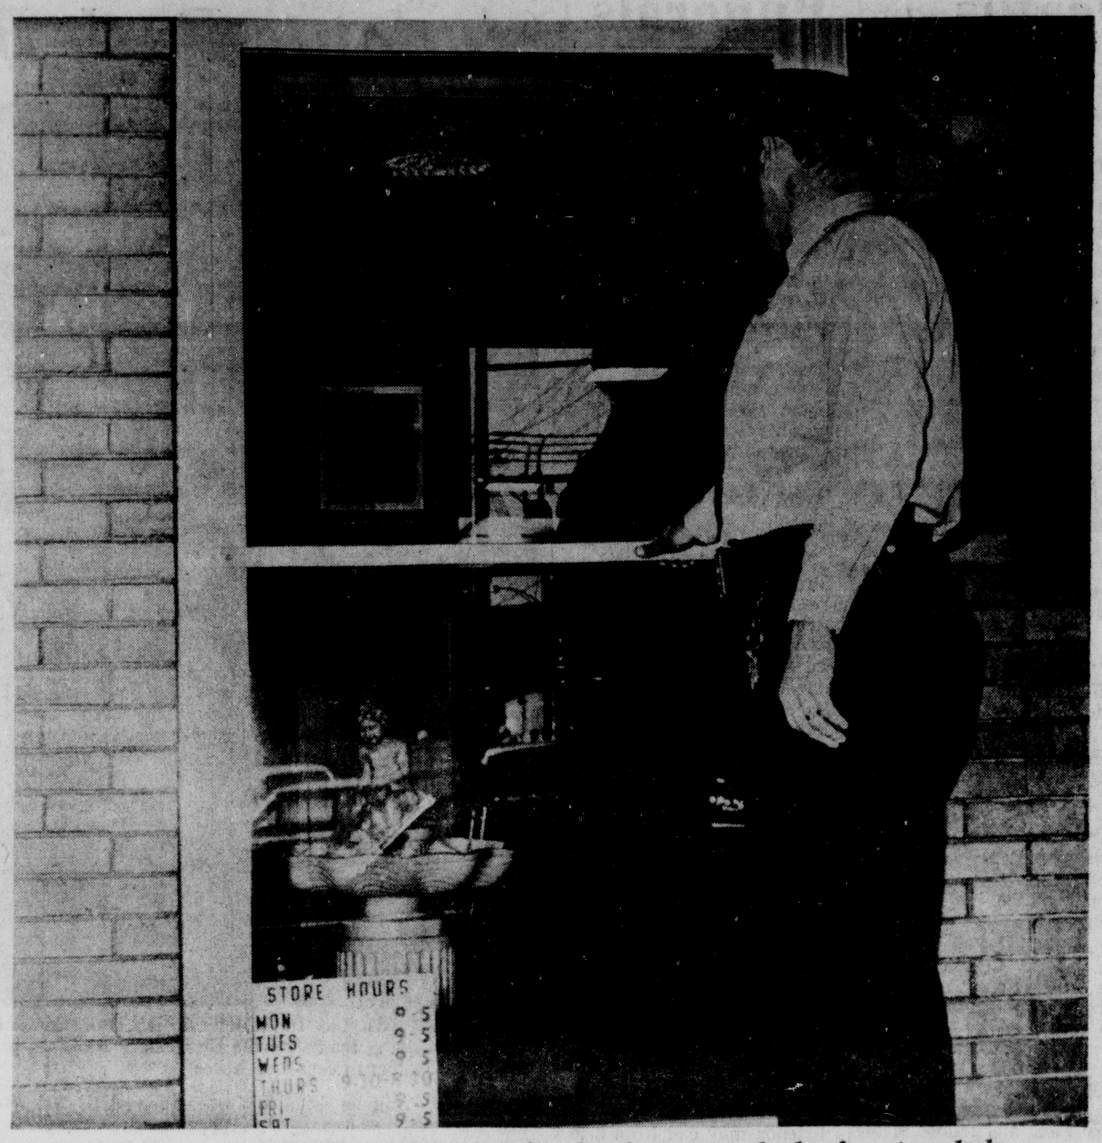

Patrolman Charles Coen is president of the Fraternal Order of Police Lodge, which will arrange the local observance of National Police Week. It will include the traditional "Peace Officers' Memorial Day," in honor of law enforcement men throughout the nation who lost their lives in line of duty in the preceding year.

Coen recently received a Jaycee award as the city's outstanding young police officer of the previous year. He said other Police Week events may include displays in windows of business places.

"If we accomplish one thing in this year's observance, I hope it will be a realization on the part of the public that a police officer is a human being, too," Coen said.

"He has a wife and children; he has a home to maintain and he has bills to pay. He's not a 'superman,' He's subject to headaches and colds and sinus trouble and aching feet and eyestrain, just like all the other people who work for a living.

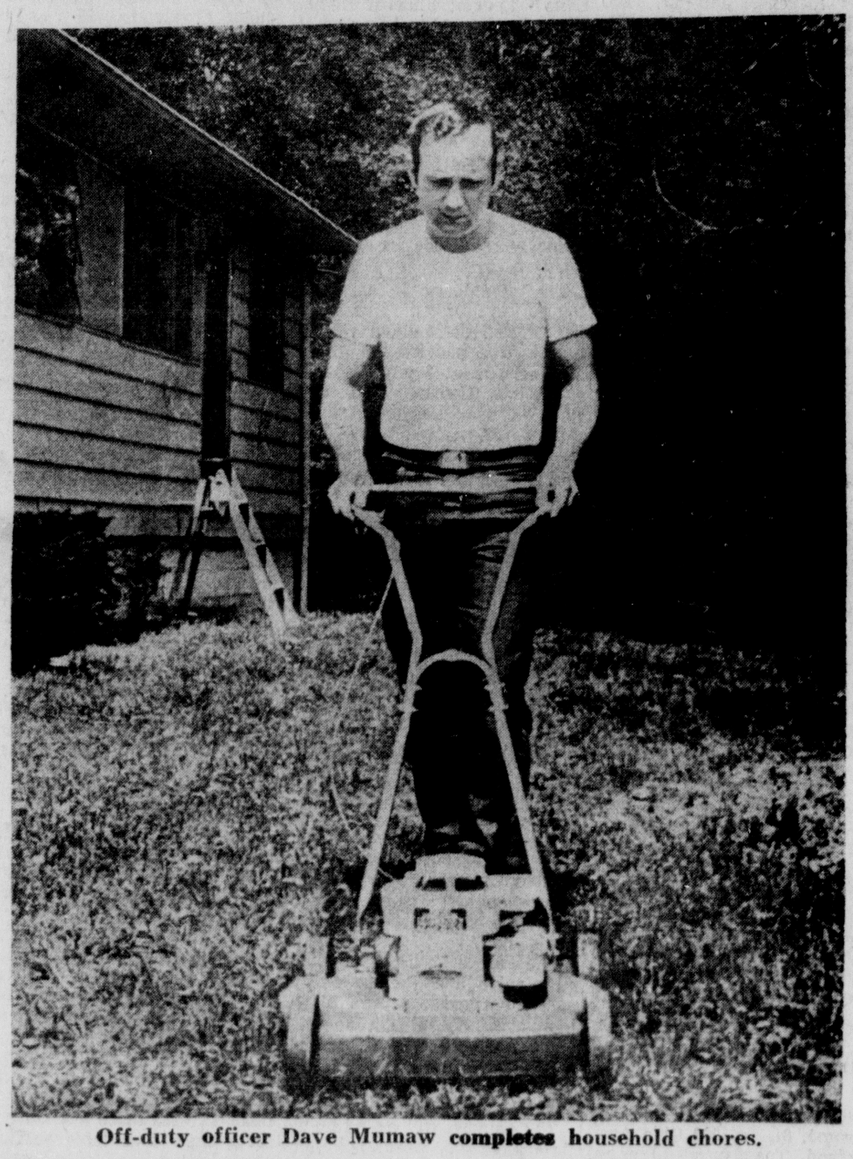

"He romps with his kids after work, he helps his wife with the dishes and he cuts the grass on his day off. Remember that a policeman is just an ordinary fellow in a blue uniform next time you encounter him at work."

Stamps In The News

Where the politicians of the world have failed, the philatelists have succeeded — establishing peaceful communications between Western nations and those behind the Iron Curtain.

The proof is the World Philatelic Exhibition to be held in Sofia, Bulgaria, from May 31 to June 8 in which 55 countries, including the U.S., will participate. Postal administrations and postal museums from all member countries of the World Postal Union will be exhibiting. World-renowned stamp collections worth more than $100 million will be on display. Catalogs on the exhibition are printed in English, German, French and Russian.

The emblem of the "Sofia 1969" World Philatelic Exhibition depicts a post-horn, symbol of the postal communications links between the nations of the world.

A NEW SERIES of regular postage stamps featuring a new profile portrait of Queen Juliana has been issued by the Netherlands. These new stamps will replace the definitive series depicting the Queen originally issued in 1953. The value is 1.25 gulden (35 cents U.S.).

STAMPS DO not have to be old to be valuable. At the recently held INTERPEX in New York, 11 Walt Disney 6c U.S. stamps with one color missing were sold for more than $5,000. A single stamp of the Disney issue with the black color entirely missing sold for $900. On the same day, sale of 20 of the 1968 U.S. 6c Christmas stamps with the light yellow color missing, including a vertical plate block of 10, sold for $2,055.

THE MAIL BAG: Doug and Bob England of Marion, Ohio, who enjoy reading the column in the Columbus Dispatch, and are new collectors, inquired as to what monies should be sent to obtain first-day covers of U.S. stamps. A money order (no checks or stamps), for the face value of the stamps to be affixed should be sent to the postmaster as indicated. If you desire a cover of a new 6-cent stamp, a self-addressed envelope plus a money order for the 6 center should be enclosed in an outer envelope to the postmaster.

ROBERT LOUIS Stevenson's novel "Treasure Island" was inspired by the Virgin Islands. In tribute to this literary masterpiece, the British Virgin Islands have issued four new stamps in commemoration of the 75th anniversary of Stevenson's death. The 4 cents shows Long John Silver and Jim Hawkins, 10 cents Jim's escape from the pirates, 40 cents the fight with Israel Hands and the $1 Treasure Trove.

IT ISN'T OFTEN that a nation behind the Iron Curtain issues stamps praising the United States. But Hungary has just issued a souvenir sheet dedicated to the Apollo 8 flight. The sheet bears the names of the U.S. astronauts Frank Borman, James Lovell and William Anders. At the right is the date of the flight and, in Hungarian, "The man in Proximity to the Moon." The illustration features the Apollo 8 zooming around the moon and the earth.

PORTABLE COLLEGES? — Community colleges have high start-up costs. Some states are considering plans to spread higher education opportunities via a "take the college to the people" system. The faculty to be "mobile."

Classes to be held in local schoolrooms, churches, public libraries or other meeting places. The basics are closer to a program of adult education than a "junior college" approach. However, there is merit in a combination of four months a year with faculty and eight months by mail. Extension courses have greater meaning if at least part of the instruction is personal.

"JUVENOCRACY" — Student rebellions explained. Some "authorities" are expounding the theory that student rebellions are basically a generational conflict in which the sons attack the authority and power of the fathers. The premise is that the root of the problem is psychic and not social; that a common direction worldwide seems to be pure idealism . . . a suicidal compulsion to exchange practical tactics for suicidal acts of violence, the urge for "ruling power," not just self-rule, but total command. The theory holds that alienation has stronger meaning than the fear of exploitation" in the father-son relationship and that downfall rather than a redistribution of power is the big scene. Words such as "Depose, not merely succeed" are being flaunted as key to the generation revolt. The thesis is covered beautifully as authors say: "Rebellions can attach themselves to carrier movements of a political nature." Whoops, the non-scientifically based psychiatrists and psychologists are at it again. They back up words with more words.

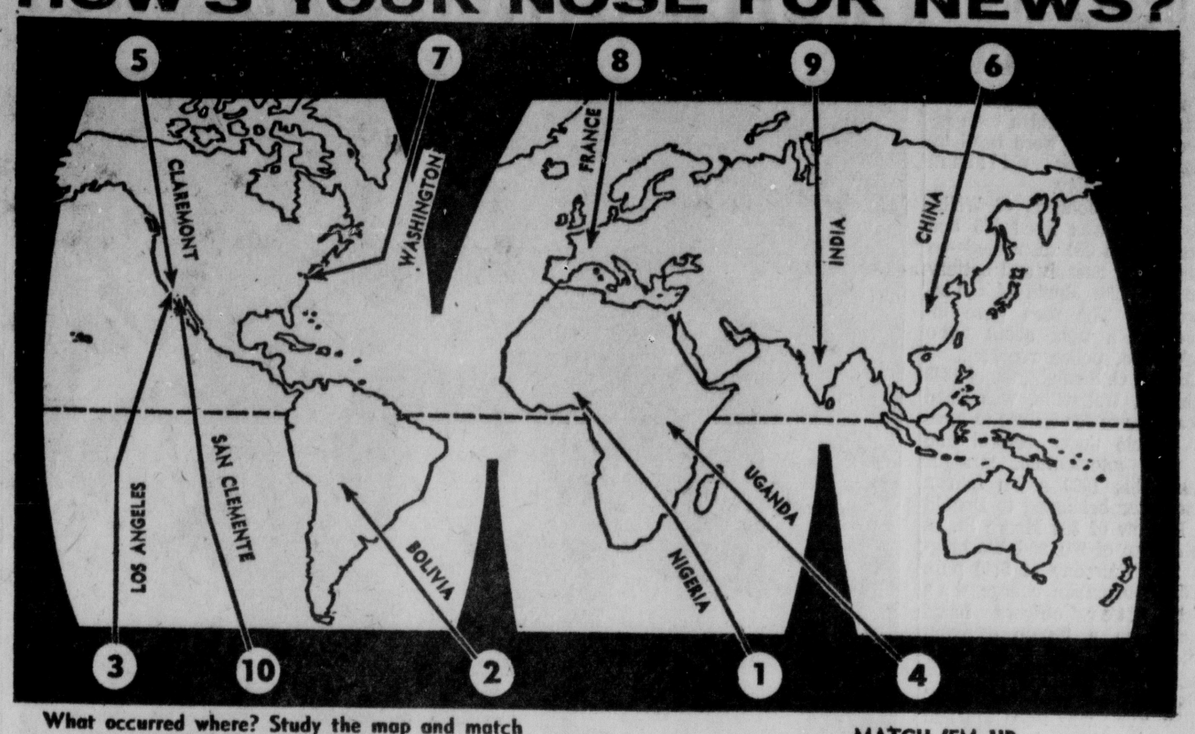

TALKING TURKEY — Hippies are getting it in the neck in Turkey. Teen-age Americans in search of freedom are learning the hard way that drug laws are severe in Turkey. Istanbul, one of the world's hash-hippie centers, is a funnel for hippie passage to the "grass" lands of Afghanistan and Pakistan. Hashish is a mechanically extracted essence of marijuana 10 times more potent than even better grades of domestic distributed pot. Turkey has satutory penalties that include three years in jail for possession and 20-30 years for exporting or importing. Moreover, the officials don't fool around. They impose the penalties. Jails are rapidly filling, much to the consternation of U.S., British, West German and other consulates. Like Mexico, Turkey is saying "Hippie go home" and they're saying it in a "hard cell" way. Cement floors, iron bars and a diet of hard work turn off most of the would-be turned-on ones.

THE MALE MUST prevail! S.E.A.M.s like old times. S.E.A.M. is a newly formed group (Society for the Emancipation of the American Male) out of Ann Arbor, Mich. Dedicated to "restoring the American patriarchy" and returning the male to "his rightful place at the head of he family," the nervous guys starting the movement are aiming at the N.O.W. people (National Organization for Women). Funds are needed to launch a magazine, "The Patriarch," which will advise men on "how to regain control of their families." More to the point is their aim to free the American male from discriminatory divorce, alimony and child custody laws. The guys contend that problems such as alcoholism, child-beating, wife murdering, desertion, divorce and drug addiction are present with a much lower incidence in patriarchies such as Italy, Greece, Japan and India. Another contention is that growing strength of the feminist movement has paralleled the wild, simply wild, growth of psychiatry and with it the semiprofessional psychologists. Now if S.E.A.M. can only get to both the lawyers and the head-shrinkers, their next call letters will be W.O.W. (World of Outasite Women!).

Odd Facts

The only metal which has been proved satisfactory for coinage purposes in its pure state is nickel.

You And The Law

When parents divorce, the courts "award" children to the parent the judge believes can take the best care of them.

In deciding, the judge considers the child's age, the parent's ability, the child's preference, and other items. If one parent is "unfit," the court will not award him or her the child. In rare instances, the court may award a child to someone besides a parent, perhaps another relative or to an institution.

THE PARENT who does not have custody can visit his child as a matter of law. A court may detail visitation rights, but they should be "reasonable."

In unusual cases the judge may take back these rights. For example, in one case a court denied a father the right to visit his son because a court had convicted him of non-support and he had threatened to take the child out of the state.

However, just because the parents live far apart does not bar a child from visiting his parent. In one state, a court allowed a father living in South Africa a visit of his daughters for several weeks each summer. The father had made satisfactory guarantees to return the children.

TO INTERFERE with visitation rights is punishable as contempt of court. For example, in another state a mother secretly moved the children out of the state to keep the father from visiting them. The court held her in contempt of court.

Outdoor Notes

Ohio's fourth annual special spring gobbler season opens Tuesday and extends through May 10 for 1,000 sportsmen. Permits were issued to 500 hunters at a public drawing and each hunter may choose a buddy to participate in stalking Ohio's largest game bird.

Hunting hours are 6 a.m. to noon each day in Adams, Athens, Hocking, Monroe, Pike, Ross, Scioto, Vinton and Washington counties. Only shotgun or longbow may be used.

Early reports indicate that the turkey population is increasing at expected levels. Experience has shown that the successful hunter first scouts an area before the hunting season, learns to use a turkey call properly and then takes a secluded position before sunrise. Hunters have learned that a seductive call imitating a lonely hen, given in 15 minute intervals, is most productive in attracting the wily old tom.

The tom can be distinguished by his predominantly black breast, reddish head and wattles, his large beard and the head and neck showing bare skin.

There were 22 successful hunters last year with the largest turkey weighing more than 21 pounds.

COHO SALMON CONTEST

Ohio's First Coho Salmon Derby has been initiated by Alan-Lee Marine Company of Painesville. The top prize, for the heaviest Coho, is a new Mercury 7½ horsepower outboard motor. The basic rules are that your Coho must be caught from Lake Erie and you must be a licensed fisherman. For entry blanks contact Don Hennis at Alan-Lee Marine Co. Painesville.

PYMATUNING MUSKELLUNGE

Many northeastern Ohio anglers are not aware of the potential existing at Pymatuning Reservoir, for musky fishing. At best, the musky angler must fish many, long hours to be successful, and this is true in any musky waters. However, certain times of the year offer a better chance for the angler to hook this fine species and he should take advantage of this chance.

Division of Wildlife crews are netting and releasing these big fish after taking eggs needed for hatchery propagation. Thirteen musky, six large females greater than 40 inches have been examined to date. Most of the fish were not caught with any frequency until water temperatures reached and surpassed 50 degrees.

Musky are on the move and netted more often during this period — their spawning period. From now on, the musky will be actively seeking food and the fish are more susceptible to the angler's lure. May through June are the better months to fish.

Although the musky is found throughout Pymatuning, the fishes movements, this spring, have been extensive along the Ohio shore from the causeway south about one mile past the state park camping area. It is suggested that the angler troll with large lures in about 6-10 feet of water at or near dusk. Drift fishing off the points and in bays in about 6 feet of water with large chubs may work too.

According to netting surveys, the fish are more active just following a period of windy weather and this would be one of the better times to fish. Be prepared to fish many hours for the musky.

FISHING OUTLOOK DISTRICT THREE

Lakes and streams are clearing after recent rains. Water temperatures in counties bordering Lake Erie range from 42-56 degrees. Pymatuning Lake is producing bass, walleyes and suckers, Aquilla Lake bluegills and northern pike, and Mosquito Lake with a water temperature of 47 degrees reported good for walleyes.

Lakes and streams in the southern part of the district have water temperature ranges from 48-58 degrees and are rising.

Musky, bass, and crappie fishing is reported as fair at Leesville and Clendening Reservoirs. Tappan reports fair catches of walleyes, crappies, channel catfish, and perch. Berlin Reservoir is good for walleyes, bass, bluegills, and carp. Mogadore is producing good bass, bluegill, carp, and perch catches.

Palmer Fry, State Game Protector for the Division of Wildlife, advises fishing is improving in Charles Mill Dam with the rise in water temperature. Three men, Cleve Gordon, Jomes Olden and Charles Taylor, all of Mansfield, caught a total of 58 crappies average length 10 inches, eight carp average 14 to 16 inches, 18 bullheads average 9 to 11 inches, and 10 bluegills average 6 to 8 inches in length. These were all caught on worms and minnows.

Jim Kelley, State Game Protector for the Division of Wildlife, reports that Conneaut Creek in Ashtabula County has been producing some nice catches. Jake Bort and his son Bill caught a 22-inch, 5 lb. catfish and an 18-inch, 3 lb. trout April 12, while fishing Conneaut River near the Arches. They were using worms for bait and fishing mainly for suckers.

One report was received of several ardent trout fishermen fishing for trout in the Conneaut River with lures and spinners and having no luck at all, but an unidentified lady fishing in the same area, but using worms for bait caught 3 nice trout and 1 Coho salmon. Tip. ((Don't overlook natural baits). Clendening Lake yielded a 6 lb. 2½ ounce largemouth bass.

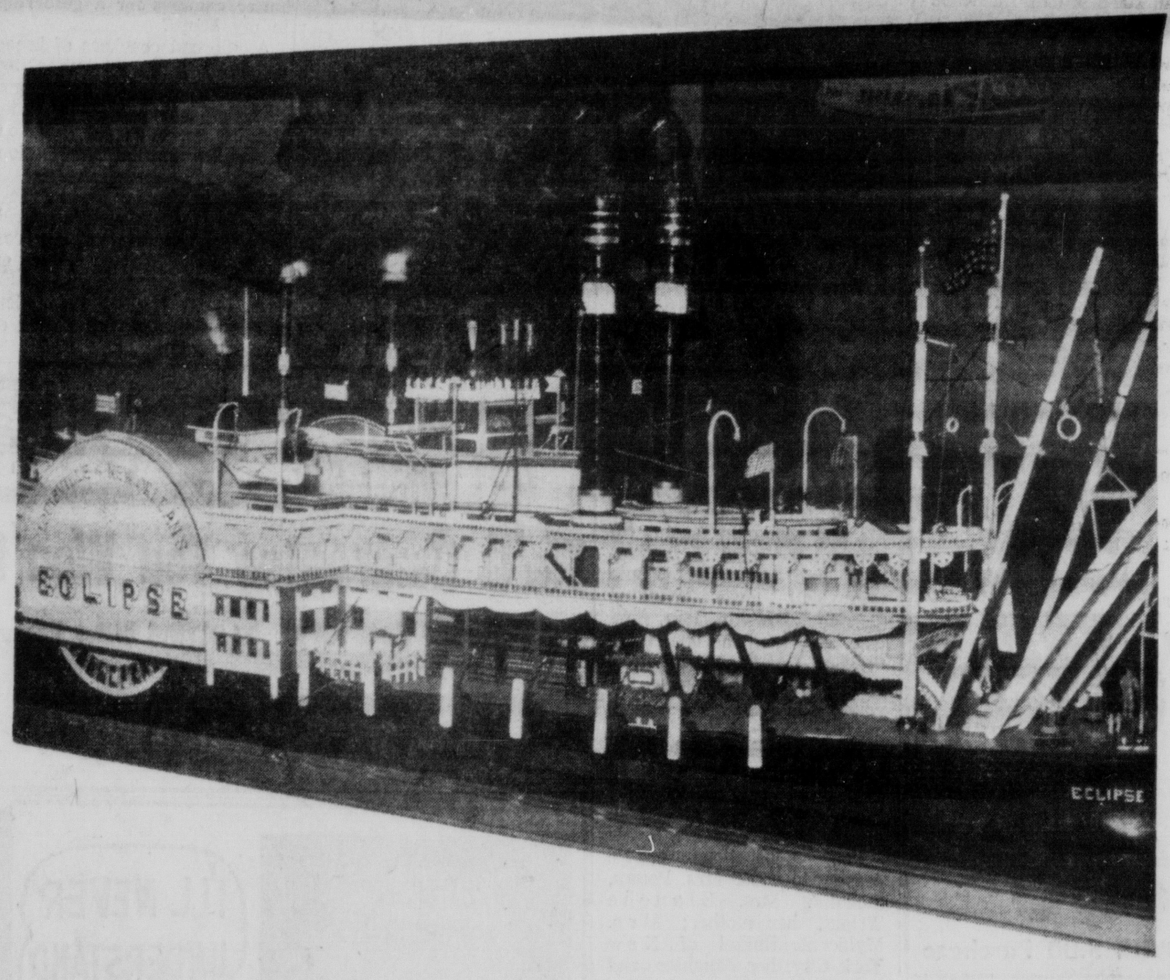

WINS OHIO AWARD

The Ohio Wildlife Management Association has given its Conservationist of the Year Award to Mr. Dean Now,

Superintendent of the St. Mary's Hatchery, a their recent banquet. The award was presented for his excellent service and accomplishments during the past twenty-one years.

St. Mary's is Ohio's largest hatchery from which millions of fish have been stocked in Ohio waters during Mr. Now's employment. The hatchery records show that 8,000,000 walleye, 8,180,000 northern pike, 2,250,000 largemouth bass and thousands of fish of other species have been produced during his career. One of his notable accomplishments was to produce a better adapted strain of northern pike for Ohio waters.

Three Fined At Wellsville

Two motorists charged with traffic violations and a man involved in a fight were fined by Wellsville Mayor William Daugherty Friday.

Ernest R. Johnson of Wellsville RD 1 was fined $75 and costs — with $60 suspended—on a charge of assault and battery filed by Mike Monte of Commerce St. The men were involved in a fight about two weeks ago, police reported.

Charles O. Straight, 52, of 1843 Main St., Wellsville, was fined $25 and costs for failure to have his vehicle under control and $25 for intoxication. New Regulations Go Into Effect On Medicare Plan

A request for payment of Medicare benefits filed with a hospital by or on behalf of an elderly patient now will be considered a written intent to claim both hospital insurance benefits under Medicare and cash social security benefits, Robert M. Ball, commissioner of Social Security, announced today.

The change became effective upon publication of a new regulation in the Federal Register of Friday.

Ball said that under the new procedure the request for payment of benefits filed with the hospital will serve to protect the person's social security and Medicare benefits during the period between the admission to the hospital and the taking of a formal application for benefits.

He said that in the event that a patient died before he had an opportunity to file the claim, the application could be obtained from a member of the patient's family, a representative of his estate, or even the hospital itself.

Ball cautioned older people not to wait until they were in a medical emergency before thinking about Medicare.

"The ideal time to sign up for both hospital insurance and doctor bill insurance under Medicare is still sometime in the three months before the month in which the person will be 65. The new regulation merely saves loss of hospital insurance benefits in those cases where, for some reason, possible ignorance of the law, the person has failed to sign up for the benefits until he had a pressing need for them," he said.

Thinking About Voting Against the School Renewal Levies?

Why Don't You Go Out And Kick A Kid in the Teeth Instead. It Would Be Kinder.

Figuratively that's what you would be doing anyway by voting against the levies. A kick in the teeth will heal. But an education never properly obtained is a scar which will never heal. The following statistics should make clear to you how much the schools stand to lose if the levies are not renewed. The defeat of the 12 mill operating levies would mean the loss of state funds in the amount of $1,353,628. This is 53.7% of the total operating budget. Adding this loss to the loss of the millage, the schools would be short almost 75% of the funds they are now able to use. Where would your standard of living go if you had to live on only 25% of your present income? If the levies fail, the quality of education is going to go to the same place.

Remember the Renewal Levies do not represent an increase in your taxes.

Musuraca 3-Hits Wintersville, Potters Win Section

Cunningham Slams Homer, Double

By TURK PIERCE

Jim Musuraca managed to sandwich in a baseball game in Steubenville between the shot put and the 880-yard relay in Salem yesterday and pitched East Liverpool to a 9-1 win over Wintersville and to the sectional title.

The Potters play the Philo (Zanesville area) sectional winner at 1 p.m. Monday in Bridgeport in the opening of the district tournament.

Musuraca, who hurled a three-hitter, said his arm was tired after the game. He had beaten Steubenville Central in the sectional opener Wednesday. But throwing the shot may help Musuraca's pitching. "The ball feels real light after throwing the shot", he noted.

Dan Cunningham sparked a 12-hit attack with a homer, double, single and walk and three runs scored. Wintersville, in its first year of baseball after a long layoff, committed eight errors, six by the catchers, which led to seven unearned runs.

In the first, Bill Montgomery singled and went to third when the ball got through the right fielder. Musuraca struck out for what was apparently the third out, but the ball got away from catcher John Gache and then he threw it into right field, allowing Musuraca to reach base and Montgomery to score.

A similar missed third strike led to three more runs in the third. The Potters had scored once when Cunningham singled, stole second, took third on a passed ball and came home on a sacrifice fly by Musuraca. Tom Chambers singled and stole second. Randy McVay struck out, again for the apparent third out, but again Gache missed the ball and threw wildly, allowing Chambers to score. Starter and loser Jim Wright had been relieved after Chambers' hit, and John Haney, Jim Massey and J. T. Cunningham got consecutive singles off reliever Dick Hull for two more runs.

Wintersville got its first baserunner against Musuraca in the third when Rick James singled. He took second on a balk, third on a wild pitch, and scored when Greg Hickman grounded out.

Cunningham's double and Montgomery's single added another run in the fourth. In the fifth, off Jim Donaldson, Haney was safe when his bat was tipped, stole second, and awarded third when the shortstop sat on him and scored on a hit by Kim Kemple. Cunningham followed with his homer over the right field fence, closing out the scoring.

Potters Win 880 Relay, Place 3rd In County; Bulldogs 1st

KEN KORNBAU of Wellsville sets a new Columbiana County two-mile record as he crosses the tape in 10:08.1 at Salem last night.

Kornbau Sets Two-Mile Mark

By TURK PIERCE
Review Sports Editor

East Liverpool's track team, sparked by good performances in the relays, finished third in the 66th annual Columbiana County track meet at Salem last night.

East Palestine edged Salem 60-58 for its seventh straight title. Ken Kornbau of Wellsville set a record with a 10:08.1 two-mile run and Salem set a record in the mile relay with a 3:34.3 clocking. East Liverpool was second in the mile relay and won the 880 relay, with the quartet of Steve Curtis, Joe March, Jim Musuraca and Steve Williams turning in a 1:33.9 mark. Columbiana finished ahead of the Potters but was disqualified for an illegal baton pass.

Joe Lewis of East Pallestine was the meet's top scorer, picking up 16 points on firsts in the long jump and 180-yard low hurdles and a second in the high hurdles. Gary Schmidt of Columbiana was the only other double winner, annexing the 100- and 220-yard dashes.

Kornbau won by 15 yards over East Palestine's Mike Greaves. The old record of 10:12.9 was set by Ted Hoffman of East Liverpool last year. The former mile relay mark was 3:36.5 by Salem in 1965.

Gil Richards of East Liverpool, previously unbeaten in the two-mile, finished fourth. Williams took a second in the 220 and a third in the 100. Ralph Seevers, running nearly last after one lap in an immense field in the 880, sprinted in the remaining lap to take fourth. Chris Resing led all the way into the final 220 yards of the mile and faded to finish fifth. Tom Gooding and Earl Taylor were fourth and fifth in the high hurdles.

East Liverpool was blanked in the field events. Terry Lipp of East Palestine did a 6-3 high jump, missing a record by ⅞ of an inch. Ken Pittenger of Lisbon won the discus, Elvie Jackson of Crestview took the pole vault and Dan Russell of Salem, a sophomore, won the shot put for the second straight year. Lipp and Schmidt were others who successfully defended titles. Dave Shasteen and Rick Rickman, both of Salem, took the 880 and mile.

The Potters moved into third place by the four points they got in the last event, the mile relay. East Palestine's margin of victory was likewise the two points it got in the mile relay but the big points were picked up by Greaves, who took second in the two-mile ahead of favored Roger Barnes of Salem. The win was a climax to a 44-year career for Bulldog coach Bill Ward.

Allen Misses 2 Planes

Phils Top Cards Without Richie

By MURRAY CHASS
Associated Press Sports Writer

Rico Carty marked his return by flying out, but Richie Allen stayed away after missing two chances to fly.

Carty, who missed all last season because of tuberculosis, played for the first time this year Friday night and helped Atlanta to a 7-4 victory over Los Angeles with a sacrifice fly.

Philadelphia, on the other hand, defeated St. Louis 7-2 despite he absence of Allen, who remained in Philadelphia after missing two planes.

In other National League games San Diego stopped Cincinnati 8-5, Houston trimmed San Francisco 3-1, Pittsburgh downed Montreal 7-3 and Chicago got by New York 6-4.

In the American League, Boston edged Detroit 3-2, Washington blanked Cleveland 5-0, Baltimore topped New York 5-1, Oakland nipped Seattle 8-7 and Kansas City swept a twi-night doubleheader from California 9-4 and 3-2.

Carty, whose return to the lineup had been delayed by a dislocated shoulder, came to the plate as a pinch hitter in the sixth inning with the bases loaded. His fly ball drove in Clete Boyer with the run that tied the game 4-4.

"I was nervous when all those fans stood and applauded," the 28-year-old Brave said. "But after I swung the first time I felt great. I knew I had to do something, and it turned out okay. It's wonderful to be back. I just wish I could play regular."

Allen is supposed to be a regular—he's hitting .346 with three homers and 10 runs batted in—but there are times he's absent from the lineup because he's not at the park.

He wasn't there Friday night because, his wife explained to the Phillies by telephone, he missed his planes. The first was the team plane that left Philadelphia at 8 a.m. Mrs. Allen said he missed that one because he was delayed by heavy traffic.

She said her husband would take the 4 p.m. flight. But 2½ hours after 4 p.m., Mrs. Allen called again to say Richie had missed that flight, too. She explained that he was going from airline counter to airline counter and missed the plane in between.

Fortunately for the Phillies, Larry Hisle made the plane and had a very prominent place in the lineup. The rookie outfielder collected four hits, drove in two runs and scored two.

After Carty's sacrifice fly tied the game for Atlanta, Orlando Cepeda put the Braves ahead to stay with a two-run double in the seventh. Hank Aaron homered for Atlanta while Willie Crawford and Tom Haller connected for the Dodgers.

Al Ferrara, a former Dodger, blasted San Diego past Cincinnati, rapping a pinch-hit, grand slam home run in the fourth. All four runs were unearned, the result of an error by Tony Perez.

Jim Wynn drove in all three Houston runs against San Francisco's Gaylord Perry with two homers, and Pittsburgh downed Montreal with the help of the wildness of the Expos' pitchers.

Larry Jaster helped the Pirates start a four-run outburst in the fifth inning by throwing wild on a bunt, and two of the runs came across on wild pitches by Dan McGinn and Carroll Sembera.

The Cubs exploded for four runs in the fourth against the Mets, the first on Ron Santo's homer and the other three on a homer by Al Spangler.

Al Lopez Quits White Sox Post

MINNEAPOLIS (AP) — Al Lopez, one of baseball's most successful managers, resigned Friday from the helm of the Chicago White Sox because of a prolonged stomach ache.

The surprise announcement was made during an off day prior to the opening of a two-game series with Minnesota and Don Gutteridge, a long time Lopez lieutenant, was named his successor through the 1970 season.

In announcing his resignation, Lopez said he has been troubled with stomach pains since last November when he suffered a spasm.

"I've been on pills since then and I've got to get off of them," said Lopez. "I've tried to stick things out but the condition isn't getting any beter."

Majestic Prince, Top Knight Favored

Willie, Drone Missing From Derby's Lineup

By BOB COOPER
Associated Press Sports Writer

LOUISVILLE, Ky. (AP) — The Big Four and a quartet of questionable challengers went to the post today in the 95th running of the most famous race in the world—the Kentucky Derby.

Favored in the betting the day before the race was Majestic Prince, the pride of the West Coast who became part of Frank McMahon's stable when his trainer paid $250,000 for him two years ago.

With $183,756 already in the Derby till—before the betting windows opened this morning, Majestic Prince was listed at 8-5 with Florida Derby winner Top Knight second choice at 5-2.

The early bird betters made Claiborne Farm's Dike third in the betting at 7-2 and Arts and Letters, Paul Mellon's Blue Grass Stakes winner, next at 4-1.

Other in the field included Ocean Roar, 21-1; Traffic Mark, 30-1; Fleet Allied, 4-1, and Rae Jet, 60-1.

In the forefront of many minds in Derbytown, however, were one man and one horse who weren't listed in the Churchill Downs program for the $125,000 added classic.

The man was Bill Shoemaker; the horse was Drone.

Shoemaker, one of the biggest little men in the world, was flat on his back at Centinela Hospital in Inglewood, Calif., felled by a horse that threw him earlier this week.

Drone was in his stall at Claiborne Farm near Paris, Ky., almost absolutely ruled out of racing for life after a fracture of the slab bone in the knee he suffered just before the Florida Derby.

Both had substitutes in the Derby.

Braulio Baeza, the stoic Panamanian who captured Derby laurels aboard Chateaugay in 1963, sat in for Shoemaker aboard Arts and Letters, Paul Mellon's Blue Grass Stakes winner.

Dike, trying to uphold a family tradition, went to the post in place of stablemate Drone.

"William is asleep right now," his wife explained by telephone the night before the 95th Derby, "but I think he'll be watching the race on television and will be rooting for his horse to win."

Musuraca 3-Hits Wintersville, Potters Win Section

Cunningham Slams Homer, Double

By TURK PIERCE

Jim Musuraca managed to sandwich in a baseball game in Steubenville between the shot put and the 880-yard relay in Salem yesterday and pitched East Liverpool to a 9-1 win over Wintersville and to the sectional title.

The Potters play the Philo (Zanesville area) sectional winner at 1 p.m. Monday in Bridgeport in the opening of the district tournament.

Musuraca, who hurled a three-hitter, said his arm was tired after the game. He had beaten Steubenville Central in the sectional opener Wednesday. But throwing the shot may help Musuraca's pitching. "The ball feels real light after throwing the shot", he noted.

Dan Cunningham sparked a 12-hit attack with a homer, double, single and walk and three runs scored. Wintersville, in its first year of baseball after a long layoff, committed eight errors, six by the catchers, which led to seven unearned runs.

In the first, Bill Montgomery singled and went to third when the ball got through the right fielder. Musuraca struck out for what was apparently the third out, but the ball got away from catcher John Gache and then he threw it into right field, allowing Musuraca to reach base and Montgomery to score.

A similar missed third strike led to three more runs in the third. The Potters had scored once when Cunningham singled, stole second, took third on a passed ball and came home on a sacrifice fly by Musuraca. Tom Chambers singled and stole second. Randy McVay struck out, again for the apparent third out, but again Gache missed the ball and threw wildly, allowing Chambers to score. Starter and loser Jim Wright had been relieved after Chambers' hit, and John Haney, Jim Massey and J. T. Cunningham got consecutive singles off reliever Dick Hull for two more runs.

Wintersville got its first baserunner against Musuraca in the third when Rick James singled. He took second on a balk, third on a wild pitch, and scored when Greg Hickman grounded out.

Cunningham's double and Montgomery's single added another run in the fourth. In the fifth, off Jim Donaldson, Haney was safe when his bat was tipped, stole second, and awarded third when the shortstop sat on him and scored on a hit by Kim Kemple. Cunningham followed with his homer over the right field fence, closing out the scoring.

Other in the field included Ocean Roar, 21-1; Traffic Mark, 30-1; Fleet Allied, 4-1, and Rae Jet, 60-1.

In the forefront of many minds in Derbytown, however, were one man and one horse who weren't listed in the Churchill Downs program for the $125,000 added classic.

The man was Bill Shoemaker; the horse was Drone.

Shoemaker, one of the biggest little men in the world, was flat on his back at Centinela Hospital in Inglewood, Calif., felled by a horse that threw him earlier this week.

Drone was in his stall at Claiborne Farm near Paris, Ky., almost absolutely ruled out of racing for life after a fracture of the slab bone in the knee he suffered just before the Florida Derby.

Both had substitutes in the Derby.

Braulio Baeza, the stoic Panamanian who captured Derby laurels aboard Chateaugay in 1963, sat in for Shoemaker aboard Arts and Letters, Paul Mellon's Blue Grass Stakes winner.

Dike, trying to uphold a family tradition, went to the post in place of stablemate Drone.

"William is asleep right now," his wife explained by telephone the night before the 95th Derby, "but I think he'll be watching the race on television and will be rooting for his horse to win."

Allen Misses 2 Planes

Phils Top Cards Without Richie

By MURRAY CHASS
Associated Press Sports Writer

Rico Carty marked his return by flying out, but Richie Allen stayed away after missing two chances to fly.

Carty, who missed all last season because of tuberculosis, played for the first time this year Friday night and helped Atlanta to a 7-4 victory over Los Angeles with a sacrifice fly.

Philadelphia, on the other hand, defeated St. Louis 7-2 despite he absence of Allen, who remained in Philadelphia after missing two planes.

In other National League games San Diego stopped Cincinnati 8-5, Houston trimmed San Francisco 3-1, Pittsburgh downed Montreal 7-3 and Chicago got by New York 6-4.

In the American League, Boston edged Detroit 3-2, Washington blanked Cleveland 5-0, Baltimore topped New York 5-1, Oakland nipped Seattle 8-7 and Kansas City swept a twi-night doubleheader from California 9-4 and 3-2.

Carty, whose return to the lineup had been delayed by a dislocated shoulder, came to the plate as a pinch hitter in the sixth inning with the bases loaded. His fly ball drove in Clete Boyer with the run that tied the game 4-4.

"I was nervous when all those fans stood and applauded," the 28-year-old Brave said. "But after I swung the first time I felt great. I knew I had to do something, and it turned out okay. It's wonderful to be back. I just wish I could play regular."

Allen is supposed to be a regular—he's hitting .346 with three homers and 10 runs batted in—but there are times he's absent from the lineup because he's not at the park.

He wasn't there Friday night because, his wife explained to the Phillies by telephone, he missed his planes. The first was the team plane that left Philadelphia at 8 a.m. Mrs. Allen said he missed that one because he was delayed by heavy traffic.

She said her husband would take the 4 p.m. flight. But 2½ hours after 4 p.m., Mrs. Allen called again to say Richie had missed that flight, too. She explained that he was going from airline counter to airline counter and missed the plane in between.

Fortunately for the Phillies, Larry Hisle made the plane and had a very prominent place in the lineup. The rookie outfielder collected four hits, drove in two runs and scored two.

After Carty's sacrifice fly tied the game for Atlanta, Orlando Cepeda put the Braves ahead to stay with a two-run double in the seventh. Hank Aaron homered for Atlanta while Willie Crawford and Tom Haller connected for the Dodgers.

Al Ferrara, a former Dodger, blasted San Diego past Cincinnati, rapping a pinch-hit, grand slam home run in the fourth. All four runs were unearned, the result of an error by Tony Perez.

Jim Wynn drove in all three Houston runs against San Francisco's Gaylord Perry with two homers, and Pittsburgh downed Montreal with the help of the wildness of the Expos' pitchers.

Larry Jaster helped the Pirates start a four-run outburst in the fifth inning by throwing wild on a bunt, and two of the runs came across on wild pitches by Dan McGinn and Carroll Sembera.

The Cubs exploded for four runs in the fourth against the Mets, the first on Ron Santo's homer and the other three on a homer by Al Spangler.

Al Lopez Quits White Sox Post

MINNEAPOLIS (AP) — Al Lopez, one of baseball's most successful managers, resigned Friday from the helm of the Chicago White Sox because of a prolonged stomach ache.

The surprise announcement was made during an off day prior to the opening of a two-game series with Minnesota and Don Gutteridge, a long time Lopez lieutenant, was named his successor through the 1970 season.

In announcing his resignation, Lopez said he has been troubled with stomach pains since last November when he suffered a spasm.

"I've been on pills since then and I've got to get off of them," said Lopez. "I've tried to stick things out but the condition isn't getting any beter."

Mr Eliminator!

Dave Turner wins Top Stock Eliminator in 8 of 10 Outings.

It looks like Dave Turner and his M&A Dodge sponsored "Iron Horse" are going to be absolutely unbeatable this year. In the ten weeks Dave has been running the 1969 R/T he has put down all competition in the stock ranks to take Top Stock Eliminator. In fact, the "Iron Horse" has been so tough that last week the car was protested. Strip officials tore the car down and found it completely legal for D/SA. The car is turning in the 12.60's, so it's no wonder it seemed a little suspicious. The M&A "Iron Horse" is pure pleasure to watch — plan now to see this fine running local car in action.

Lakers, Celts Battle Today On TV At 5

BOSTON (AP) — The Los Angeles Lakers, hopeful that a one-legged Jerry West is better than nothing, make a bid for their first National Basketball Association championship today in the sixth game of a playoff showdown with the Boston Celtics.

The Lakers needed just one victory in the best-of-7 series as they took the court at Boston Garden at 5 p.m. EDT before a national television audience.

The Celtics, a bunch of old pros accustomed to the pressure cooker in winning the NBA title in 10 of the last 12 years, had their backs to the wall, but weren't conceding anything while still breathing in defense of the crown.

"We've been down before, so what does it mean?" veteran Larry Siegfried said in the wake of Boston's 117-104 thumping in Los Angeles Thursday night, giving the Lakers a 3-2 series advantage.

The Lakers, seeking to avoid a seventh deciding game in Los Angeles Monday, were concerned chiefly with the physical fitness of West, a veteran sharpshooter averaging 39 points in the first five games against Boston.

West suffered a pulled hamstring muscle in his left leg late in the fifth game, after pouring in 39 points, flew with the team to Boston Friday. He worked out lightly at the Garden in the evening and indicated he would be ready, at least with the help of heavy bandaging.

Mr Eliminator!

Dave Turner wins Top Stock Eliminator in 8 of 10 Outings.

It looks like Dave Turner and his M&A Dodge sponsored "Iron Horse" are going to be absolutely unbeatable this year. In the ten weeks Dave has been running the 1969 R/T he has put down all competition in the stock ranks to take Top Stock Eliminator. In fact, the "Iron Horse" has been so tough that last week the car was protested. Strip officials tore the car down and found it completely legal for D/SA. The car is turning in the 12.60's, so it's no wonder it seemed a little suspicious. The M&A "Iron Horse" is pure pleasure to watch — plan now to see this fine running local car in action.

Lakers, Celts Battle Today On TV At 5

BOSTON (AP) — The Los Angeles Lakers, hopeful that a one-legged Jerry West is better than nothing, make a bid for their first National Basketball Association championship today in the sixth game of a playoff showdown with the Boston Celtics.

The Lakers needed just one victory in the best-of-7 series as they took the court at Boston Garden at 5 p.m. EDT before a national television audience.

The Celtics, a bunch of old pros accustomed to the pressure cooker in winning the NBA title in 10 of the last 12 years, had their backs to the wall, but weren't conceding anything while still breathing in defense of the crown.

"We've been down before, so what does it mean?" veteran Larry Siegfried said in the wake of Boston's 117-104 thumping in Los Angeles Thursday night, giving the Lakers a 3-2 series advantage.

The Lakers, seeking to avoid a seventh deciding game in Los Angeles Monday, were concerned chiefly with the physical fitness of West, a veteran sharpshooter averaging 39 points in the first five games against Boston.

West suffered a pulled hamstring muscle in his left leg late in the fifth game, after pouring in 39 points, flew with the team to Boston Friday. He worked out lightly at the Garden in the evening and indicated he would be ready, at least with the help of heavy bandaging.

ANNOUNCEMENTS

2 IN MEMORIAM

In memory of my son and our brother, Raymond E. Wedger, who passed away one year ago yesterday May 2. Gone is the face we loved so dear, Silent is the voice we loved to hear, Too far away for sight or speech, But not too far for thought to reach, Sweet to remember him who once was here, And who, though absent is just as dear.

2 IN MEMORIAM

In memory of my son and our brother, Raymond E. Wedger, who passed away one year ago yesterday May 2. Gone is the face we loved so dear, Silent is the voice we loved to hear, Too far away for sight or speech, But not too far for thought to reach, Sweet to remember him who once was here, And who, though absent is just as dear.

Junior Editors Quiz on WORLD MAPS

QUESTION: Who made the first world maps?

ANSWER: Only crude maps were made in ancient times, such as the clay tablet in upper left, dating from 2300 B.C. Its rough marks indicated a wealthy man's estate. The peoples of the first civilizations had little knowledge of what lay beyong their borders and lacked accurate instruments to determine the location of places, with the result that the early maps were vague and confused. The first map to show the world with at least some positions scientifically located was made by the astronomer Ptolemy about 150 A.D. It was used for hundreds of years thereafter. Ptolemy's map suggested that the earth was round, to be connected by some strange unknown land. But it was not until nearly 1500 that the idea of the earth as a full sphere became accepted. Even then, Martin Behaim, who drew the first globe map in 1492, made a curious mistake: he greatly underestimated the size of that part lying between Europe and the East Indies. Columbus and other explorers soon started to sail west, but they bumped into two huge continents Behaim had left out — those later to be called the Americas.

(Jackie Konkol of Wisconsin Rapids, Wis., wins a prize for this question. You can win $10 cash plus AP's handsome World Yearbook if your question, mailed on a postcard to Junior Editors in care of this newspaper, is selected for a prize.)

Accident Claims Wife Of 'Skipper Of 'Tinkerbelle'

YOUNGSTOWN, Ohio (AP) — Martha V. Manry, whose husband, Robert, made history in the summer of 1965 by crossing the Atlantic Ocean alone in his 13½-foot sailboat, was killed Friday in an accident on the Ohio Turnpike near here. She was alone.

Mrs. Manry, 56, was returning to her home in Willowick after a visit with her mother, Mrs. Blanche Place, in Pittsburgh.

The Ohio Highway Patrol said her station wagon veered off the turnpike at the Youngstown exit, hit a guardrail and then jumped the guardrail and sailed through the air about 100 feet, landing upside down on the exit ramp.

Cause of the accident was not determined, but the patrol said the right rear tire of the car was flat and may have blown out.

Manry was on a speaking engagement in Albany, N. Y. when the accident occurred.

He left his job as a copy editor for the Cleveland Plain Dealer to make his ocean voyage, setting sail on June 1, 1965, in his boat, Tinkerbelle, from Falmouth, Mass. His wife was in Falmouth, England, to greet him when he landed there 78 days later.

At the time, Manry's boat was the smallest ever to cross the Atlantic.

El Salvador is the smallest of the six Central American republics.

Crushed To Death

CLEVELAND, Ohio (AP) — A Cleveland man was crushed to death Friday night while working at the Alloys Chemicals Corp. plant here.

The first meteorite to be preserved was the Ensisheim aerolite, which fell in Alsace Nov. 16, 1492. This 280-pound specimen is still exhibited in the town hall.

Hardest wood is that of the desert ironwood of the south west. It has wood as heavy as stone, blunts tools and can hardly be cut with a saw.

Killed By Acid

CINCINNATI (AP) — Edgar Blanton Jr., 31, Newtown, was killed Friday when a valve on a chemical tank car ruptured, spraying him with pure caustic acid. He was attempting to seal a leak in the tank car.

Dies From Burns

CINCINNATI (AP) — Sanford T. Leever, 72, Cincinnati died Friday after suffering third degree burns over 75 per cent of his body.

Crushed To Death

CLEVELAND, Ohio (AP) — A Cleveland man was crushed to death Friday night while working at the Alloys Chemicals Corp. plant here.

The first meteorite to be preserved was the Ensisheim aerolite, which fell in Alsace Nov. 16, 1492. This 280-pound specimen is still exhibited in the town hall.

Hardest wood is that of the desert ironwood of the southwest. It has wood as heavy as stone, blunts tools and can hardly be cut with a saw.

Accident Claims Wife Of 'Skipper Of 'Tinkerbelle'

YOUNGSTOWN, Ohio (AP) — Martha V. Manry, whose husband, Robert, made history in the summer of 1965 by crossing the Atlantic Ocean alone in his 13½-foot sailboat, was killed Friday in an accident on the Ohio Turnpike near here. She was alone.

Mrs. Manry, 56, was returning to her home in Willowick after a visit with her mother, Mrs. Blanche Place, in Pittsburgh.

The Ohio Highway Patrol said her station wagon veered off the turnpike at the Youngstown exit, hit a guardrail and then jumped the guardrail and sailed through the air about 100 feet, landing upside down on the exit ramp.

Cause of the accident was not determined, but the patrol said the right rear tire of the car was flat and may have blown out.

Manry was on a speaking engagement in Albany, N. Y. when the accident occurred.

He left his job as a copy editor for the Cleveland Plain Dealer to make his ocean voyage, setting sail on June 1, 1965, in his boat, Tinkerbelle, from Falmouth, Mass. His wife was in Falmouth, England, to greet him when he landed there 78 days later.

At the time, Manry's boat was the smallest ever to cross the Atlantic.

El Salvador is the smallest of the six Central American republics.

Killed By Acid

CINCINNATI (AP) — Edgar Blanton Jr., 31, Newtown, was killed Friday when a valve on a chemical tank car ruptured, spraying him with pure caustic acid. He was attempting to seal a leak in the tank car.

Dies From Burns

CINCINNATI (AP) — Sanford T. Leever, 72, Cincinnati died Friday after suffering third degree burns over 75 per cent of his body.
